THE ADMINISTRATION

Let our elders teach us and give us purpose, for with purpose and knowledge there will be success, and their efforts shall multiply and bear fruits. Poor works shall die by the way-side, yet their good works shall echo long past their time. 'Tis indeed a solemn and joyous responsibility.

"'Tis education forms the Common mind,
Just as the twig is bent,

Mr. Letson marks anniversary

MR. BEN LETSON

"Only 5000 F's were given this time!" comments Mr. Letson to Mrs. Bartlett and Linda Martz.

The school year 1963-64 is Mr. B. W. Letson's fifth year as principal of Loudoun. Of these past four years, he says, "The nicest people I've ever known—students and parents alike—are right in Loudoun County.

To receive background for his career in education, Mr. Letson received his B.A. degree at the College of William and Mary, his M.A. degree at Columbia University, and further graduate work at the University of Virginia, the William and Mary extension, and The George Washington University.

After teaching for two years in New York State, he went to be principal at a combined school at Cape Charles in 1949. Then Mr. Letson was in Powhatan as a principal until he came to Loudoun.

Until Mr. Letson's leadership, the curriculum, as well as, the extracurricular program have been improved.

It really DOES write on butter!

Mr. Simpson remains "Mr. Loudoun County High School"

MR. LUPTON SIMPSON

No member of the faculty is held in higher esteem that Vice-Principal J. Lupton Simpson. His judgment and wisdom are well known and respected among the students. He has great concern for the welfare and personal integrity of every student as well as for the customs and honor of the school. The Bachelor of Science degree from Hampden-Sydney College, as well as graduate work at Radford College, the University of Virginia, and the George Washington University, round out his qualifications as a capable and effective school administrator. With nine years of devoted service behind him as vice-principal, Mr. Simpson is a permanent and intimate part of Loudoun County High School.

"Now that boy has played hookey before," muses Mr. Simpson as he scans the absentee sheet.

"Take the day off, take the day off!" exclaims Mr. Simpson.

Mrs. Harding and Mr. Turner come to Loudoun

MISS BETSY JOYNER

Of all the faculty, none are as busy as the guidance counselors, for each student sees his counselor at least twice a year.

Miss Betsy W. Joyner, who taught history here two years ago, counseled ninth and tenth graders last year. Miss Joyner this year guided the juniors and seniors. She administered PSAT, SCAT and STEP tests and handled college applications and scholarships.

Through this portal passed the distinguished upperclassmen on their way to see Miss Joyner.

"Miss Joyner, I'd like to have my schedule changed," sobs an unhappy Mr. Turner.

MRS. MARGARET HARDING

"Hmmm! It goes A-S-D-F-G . . .," muses Mrs. Harding as she brushes up on her typing.

Mr. George Turner, a newcomer from James Wood High School, is a veteran of more than four years guidance service. In counseling the freshmen and sophomores, he gave SCAT, STEP, and NEDT tests as well as smoothing the often rough and confusing early high school years.

The eighth grade advisor, Mrs. Margaret Ann Harding, is also new to Loudoun. She taught English and math for two years at Christianburg High School. Her duties included visiting the seventh graders and acquainting them with high school life.

MR. GEORGE TURNER

Nine citizens direct public education

Mr. Letson announces a recent School Board decision to the faculty.

The people who aim to establish the finest educational system possible for Loudoun County are the Superintendent of Schools and the members of the School Board. Mr. C. M. Bussinger has headed Loudoun's educational system for six years as Superintendent. The School Board is composed of six citizens—one from each of the county's six magisterial districts; they are appointed for three years. Mr. James W. Ashton, the trustee from Mercer district for fourteen years, is the Chairman of the School Board. Mr. Caleb Gibson is the Director of Instruction, and Mr. Patrick Fitzgerald holds the new position of Supervisor of Music.

The School Board: Secretary Miss Melinda Tritipo, Mr. C. M. Bussinger, Mr. James Ashton, Mr. Fern Marshall, Mrs. Freda Johnson, Mr. Robert James, Mr. Wendell Kline, and Mrs. Helen Marsh.

MRS. CHARLOTTE BAKER

MRS. MARY BARTLETT

"What's a yearbook?" asks Mrs. Bartlett as Mrs. Baker chuckles to herself.

The expression "Jills of all trades" describes the staff of the school office. Mrs. Mary Bartlett, a graduate of Southwest Missouri State College, performs the general secretarial work in this energetic and hard working team. Mrs. Charlotte Baker, who went to Strayer Business College, serves as financial secretary and bookkeeper. The duties of the office staff cover most fields of the administrative work here at Loudoun County High School.

Mrs. Cullen manages cafeteria

Our delicious meals are thoughtfully prepared by supervisor Mrs. Easter Cullen and her hard working staff of Mrs. Annie Simmons, Mrs. Janet Keyes, Mrs. Eve Hall, and Mrs. Bessie Flynn.

The are aided by their loyal student assistants: cashiers Judy Ford and Cathy Anderson, servers Darlene Williams and Christine Fewell, dish washers Sammy Cullen, Larry Jenkins, Danny Wright, and Charles Ebert, milk boy Jay Boulter, and barrel boys Richard Gority and Joe Russell.

The cafeteria workers prepare rolls and spaghetti for Loudoun's hungry students.

Mrs. Farrand begins tenth year at LCHS

MRS. MARGARET FARRAND

"Where's Mrs. Farrand? I need an aspirin!" Mrs. Margaret Farrand came here in January, 1955, and is ready at all times to cope with anything from a headache to a broken leg. A graduate of the Army School of Nursing, she served six years in the Army Nurses' Corps, five years of which she was stationed at Walter Reed General Hospital and one year was spent at West Point. Her work includes dispensing motherly advice and recording medical information about the students as well as caring for our health. About her job she said, "I like it very much because I would rather work with teenagers than with adults."

Girls who give up one class period a day to be clinic helpers are Bobbie Letson, Yvonne Allison, Alice Diane Carr, Treva Quesenberry, Patricia Diane Carr, Sheila Embrey, Tish Boisvert, Carolyn Ramsey, and Lee Duffey.

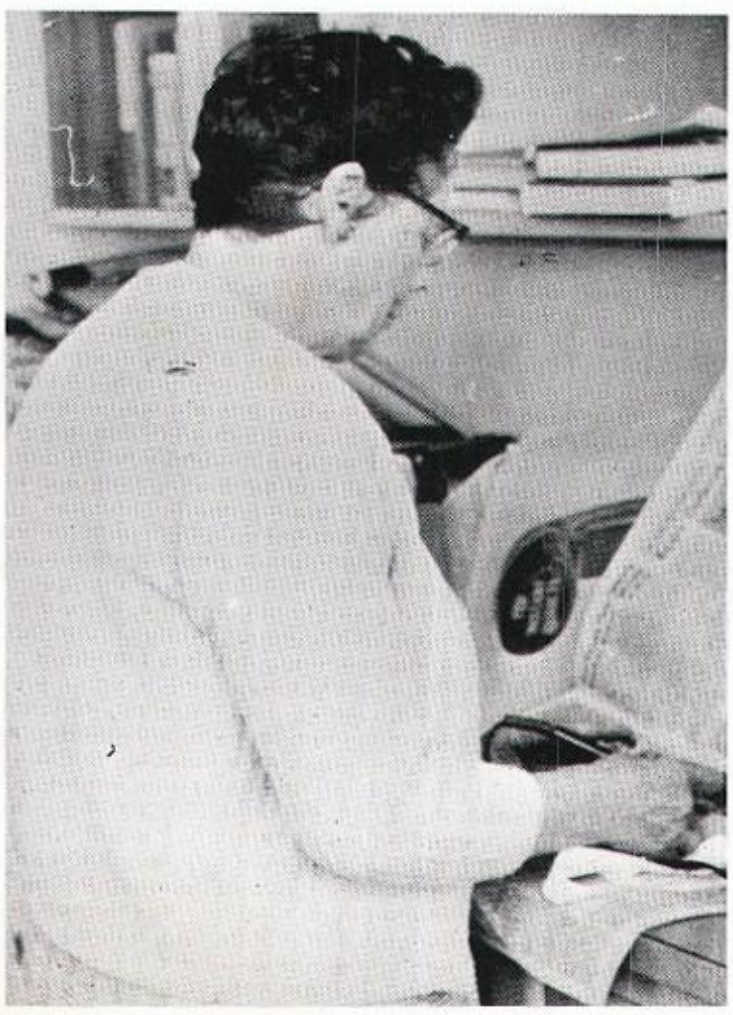
"Mrs. Farrand, it hurts every time I try to write. Please excuse me from doing homework," pleads Ronnie Delk.

Library contains lively displays

"Even if he says he's the President don't let him renew the book again," Miss Miller counsels Miss Bridges.

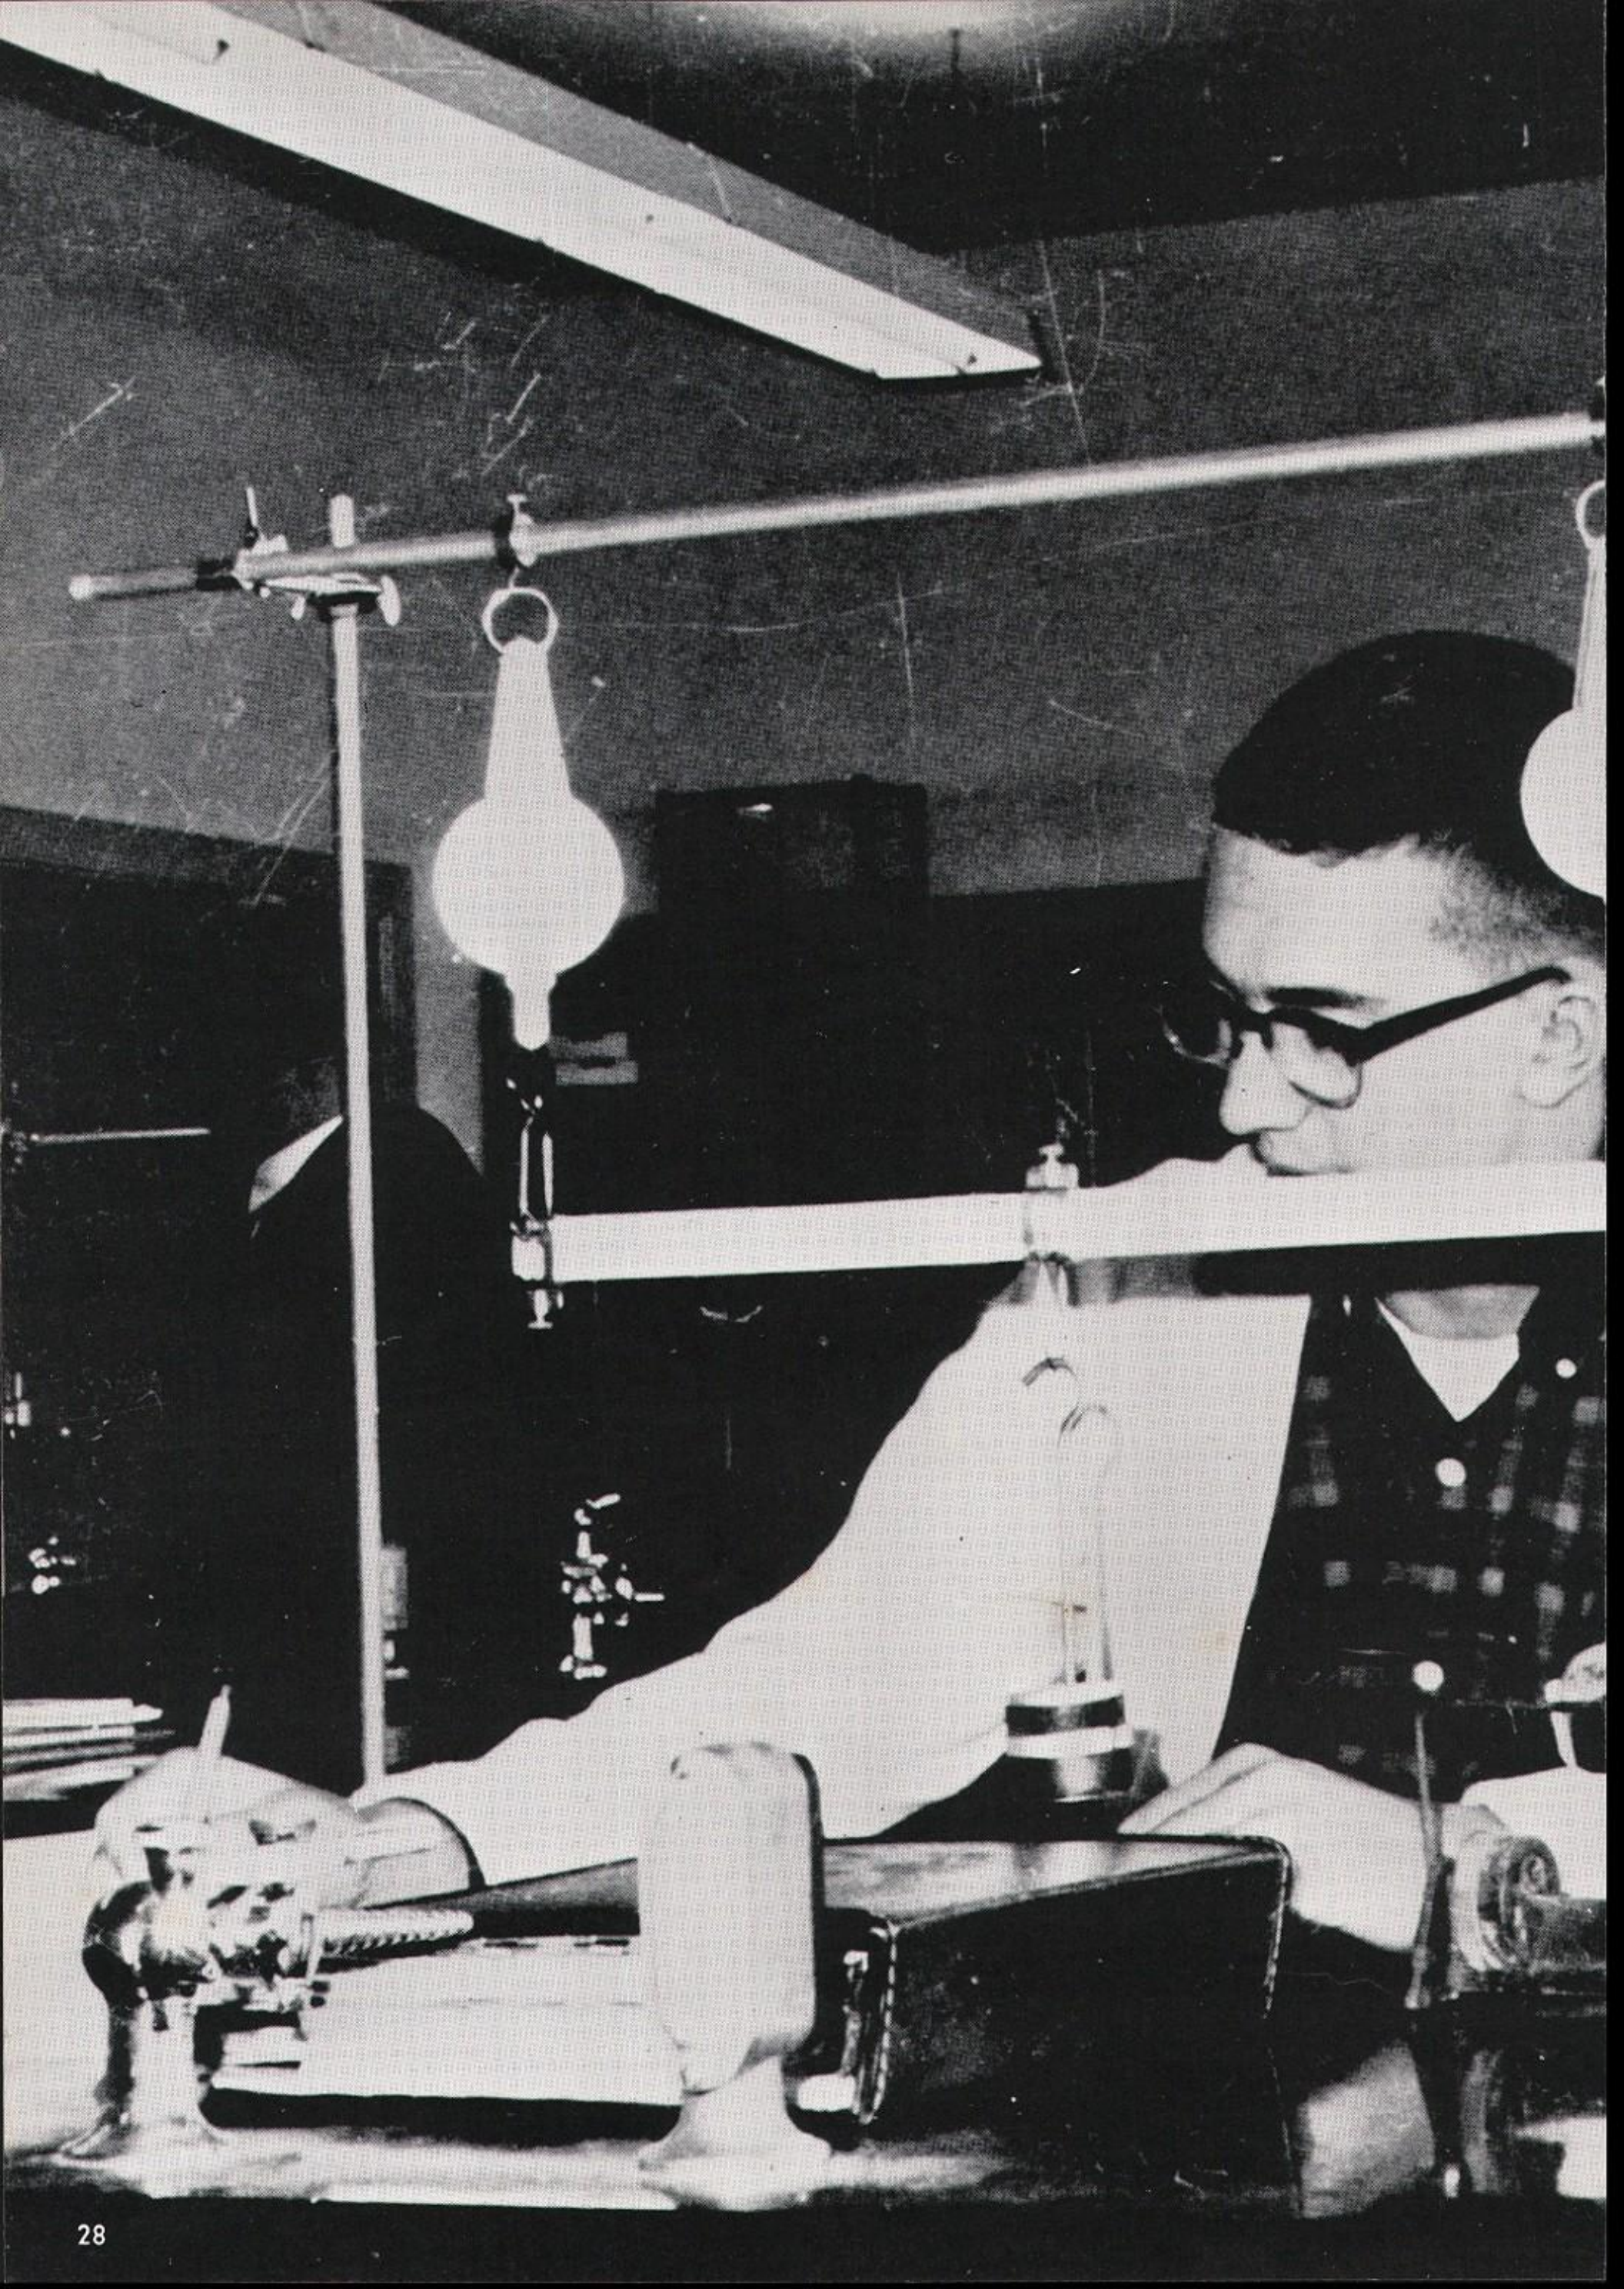
"Reading maketh a full man." Indeed, many "full men" are made through the facilities of the library of Loudoun County High School. With the helping hand of a score of student assistants, librarians Miss Katherine Bridges and Miss Ruth Miller continue to build up the facilities of the library. They are expending the vocational file and continually adding to the book collection. In addition to receiving the major magazines of America, they recently began subscribing to "Scientific American."

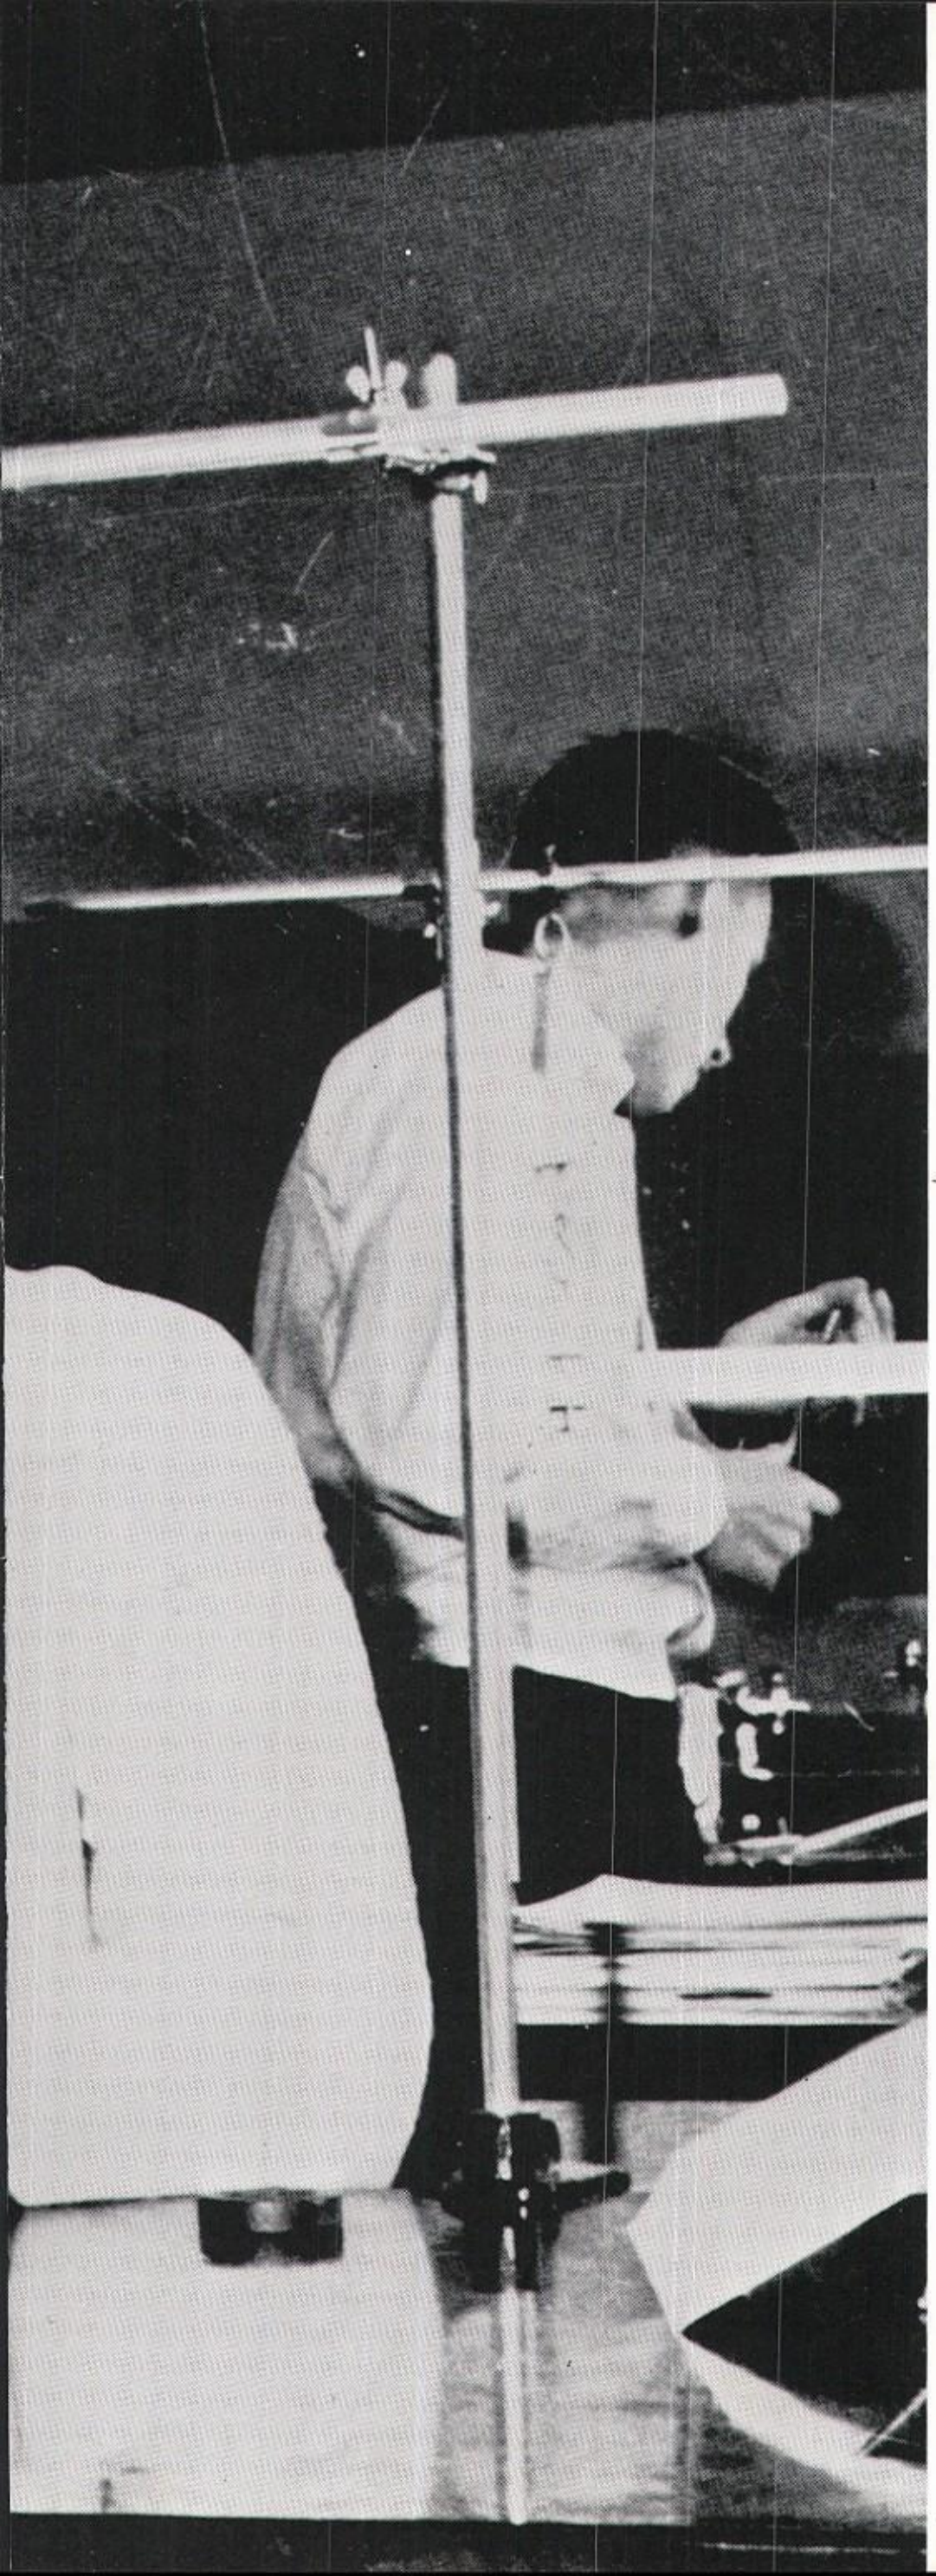
MISS RUTH MILLER



Miss Miller pauses for a moment to catch up on yesterday's news.

MISS KATHERINE BRIDGES





ACADEMICS

By far the most important aspect of our school life is the academic part. At least two-thirds, and sometimes almost all, of our school day is spent attending classes. For that is where we aquire the knowledge that will guide us throughout our life. The curriculum is divided into three sections, each one further divided to meet the needs of all the students.

> "Education is not learning; it is the exercise and development of the powers of the mind; and the two great methods by which this end may be accomplished are in the halls of learning, or in the conflicts of life."
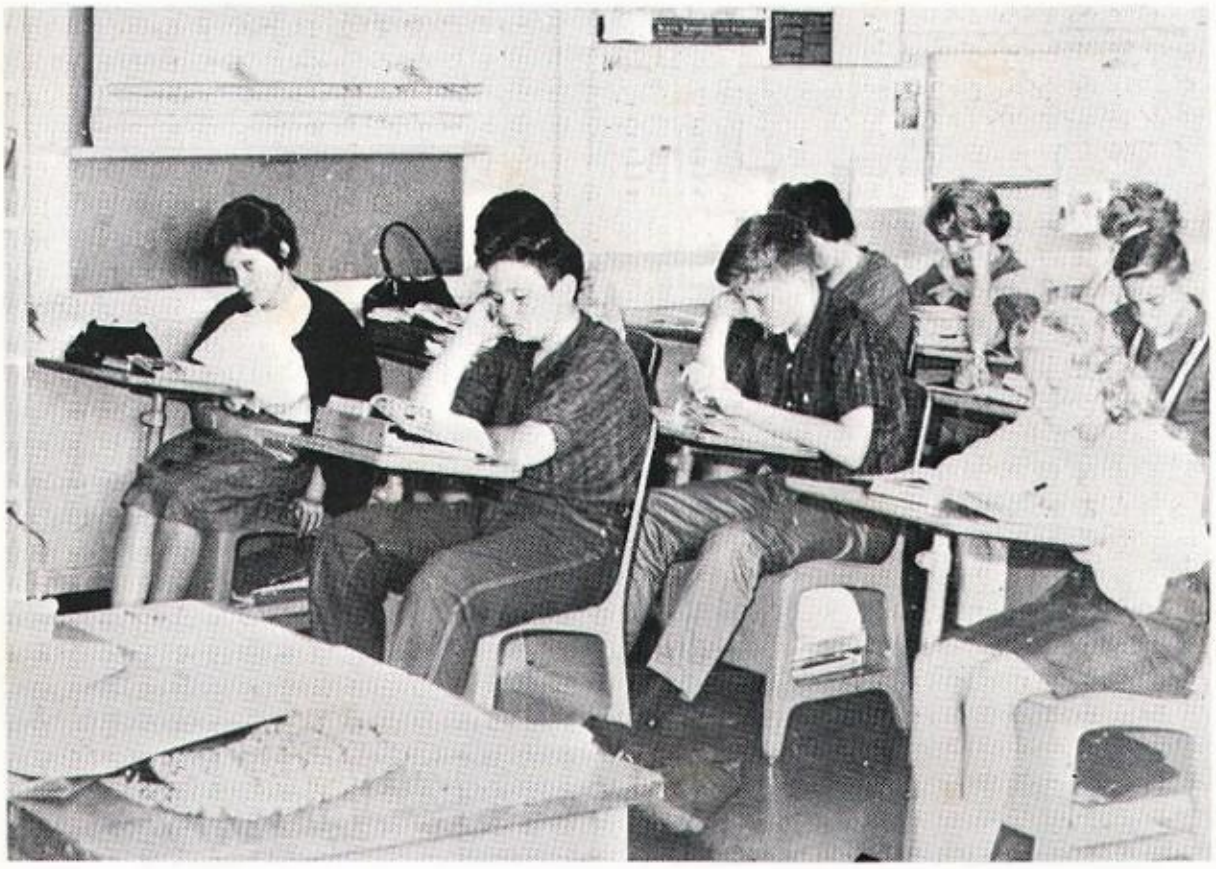
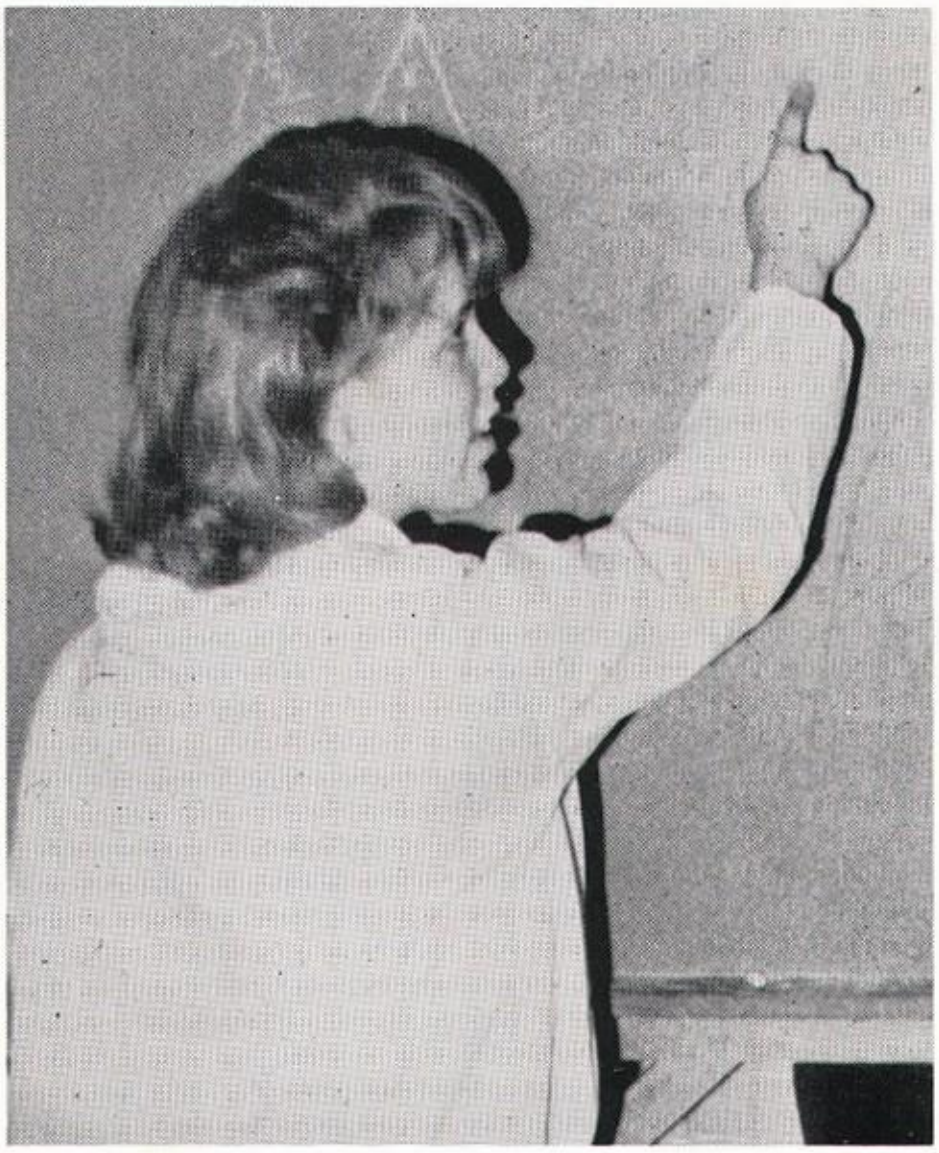
> The Princeton Review

New math added to curriculum



110% of 10 is what? thinks Mary Ellen Havener, while Jody Kincaid and Nesbit Hatch try to stay awake.

10+5=3?



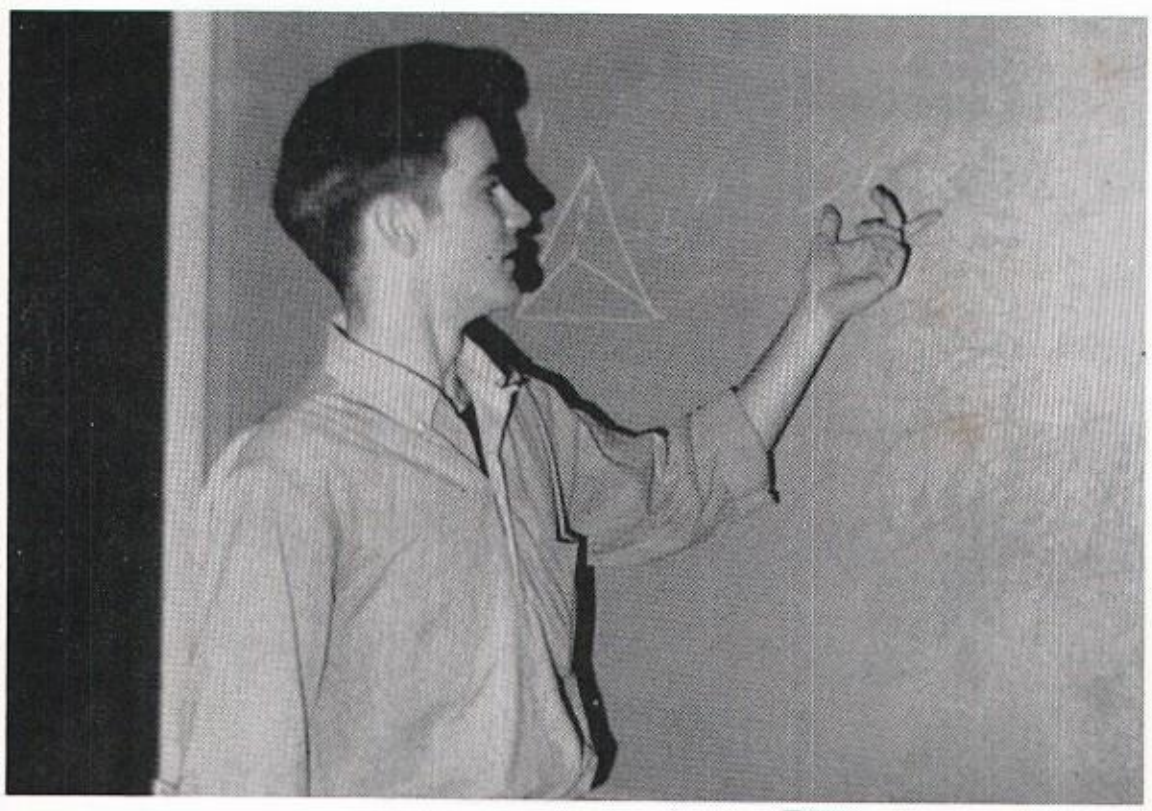
"Therefore, it is obvious that 3 is equal to 1 . . ." says Lynn Aikens as she tackles a math problem.

Has the math department gone mad? Not really.

That equation is only a simple problem in modulus arithmetic. Modulus arithmetic is only one face of a revolutionary new mathematics that has been sweeping the field of education. Loudoun County High has not been neglected. In the words of one math teacher, this progressive trend puts the "new emphasis on reasoning." The trend encourages understanding of operations, rather than the memorization of formulas and processes. We still retain some of the traditional courses, such as business math, math I, II, and III, in addition to algebra, plane geometry, trigonometry, and solid geometry. Math has always had a vital spot in the world. The goal of the math department is to help us meet the needs of the future.

Members of the Mathematics Department gather in the foyer. They are left to right, Mrs. Patton, Mrs. Smith, Mr. Shipp, Admiral Dudley, and Mrs. Diedrich.

"He gave me an F. He gave me an F. Why did he give me an F?" thinks Carroll Howard in his solid geometry class.



Mark Crowley explains a math problem he has just solved on the board.

Rick King eagerly works in a new math book he has found: "First Grade Arithmetic."

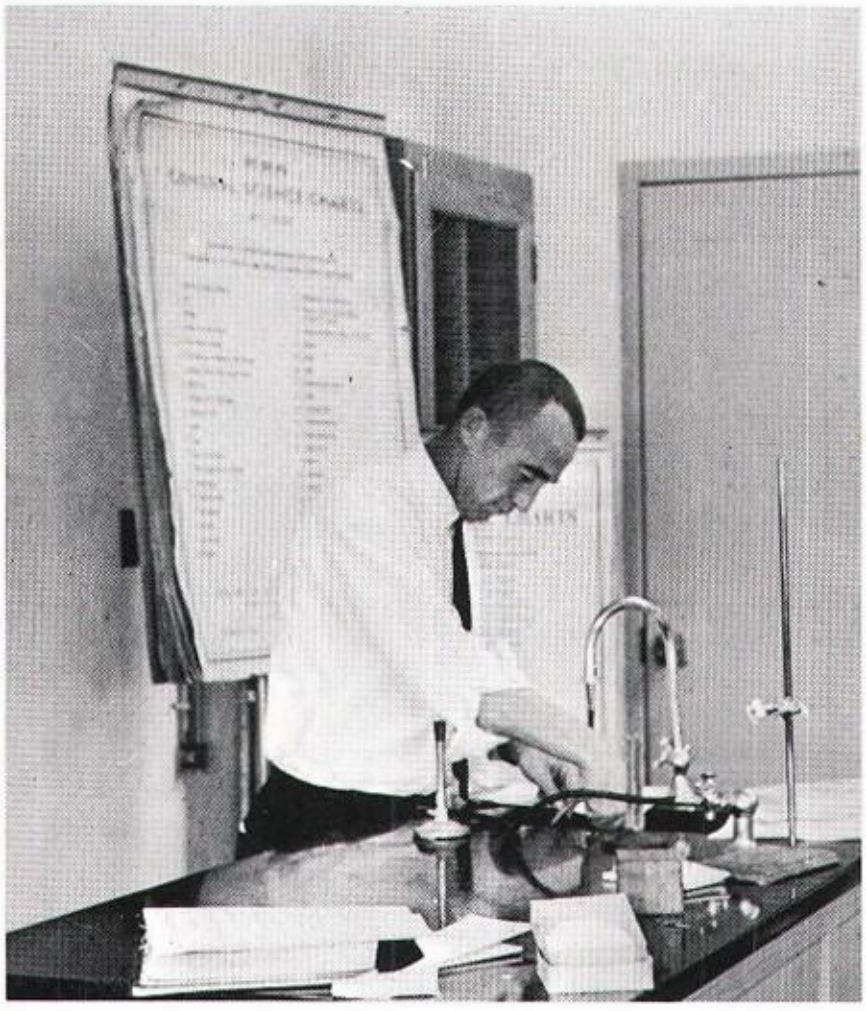
Room 4's finished lab allows individual

"It bit me!" cries Mr. Scholz as another experiment runs rampant.

The science department teachers, Mr. K. Vance, Mrs. Firkin, Mr. Echols, Mr. Scholz, Mrs. Kephart, and Mrs. McCann, pose on the center steps.

"Now you're doing the cha-cha right," quips Flea Chamblin to Sheila Embrey as they fool around with Sadie of the biology department.

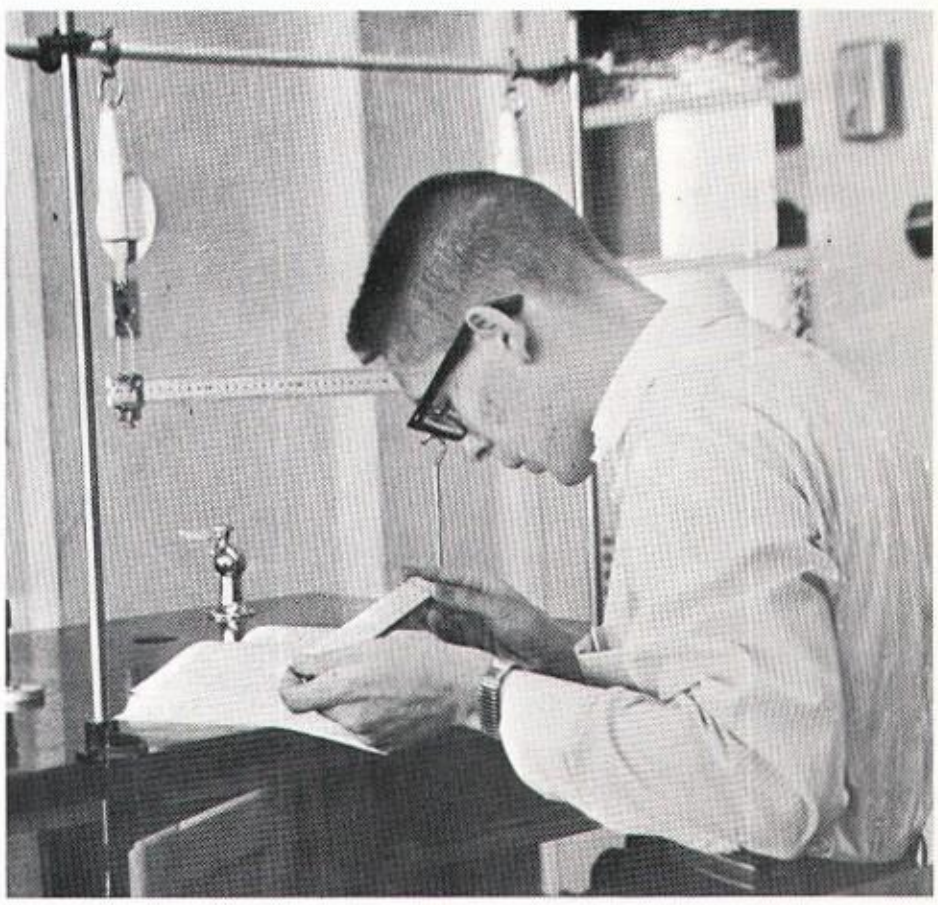
experiments in chemistry and physics



Blocked by a stopped sink, Mr. Vance muses whether or not to call Roto-Rotter.

Our science department constantly labors to improve itself in its exploding field. New equipment has been received and a new physics book adopted. Keeping abreast of progress, yet teaching a solid base of fundamentals, is the never ending challenge enthusiastically answered by our competent instructors: Mrs. McCann and Mrs. Kephart, biology; Mrs. Davis, general science; Mr. Echols, earth science; Mrs. Vance physical science; Mr. Firkin, chemistry; and Mr. Scholz, physics. Each not only guides us through the worlds of science but also adds his own personal emphasis. For example, Mr. Scholz aids his students' understanding of physics by emphasizing mathematics and graphs.

Jim Chamblin lazily meditates an important physical concept: Conservation of energy.



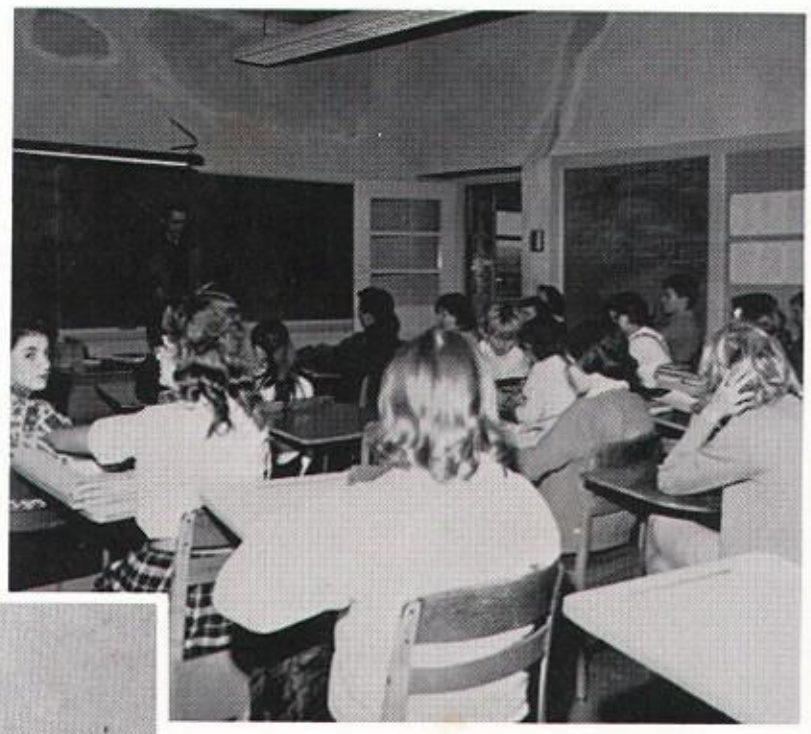
"Hmm! One loose apple plus one deranged old scientist . . ." mumbles Gene Harrison as he cracks a gravity experiment.

English teachers, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Niman, Miss Vermillon, Miss Wright, Mr. Wall, Mr. Sullins, Mr. Dietz, Mr. Baumgardner, and Mrs. Baumgardner convene in the library.

Our language extends from aardvark to zyzzogeton, and in between lies all the work of the English Department. Eleven members of the faculty belong to this extremely important department.

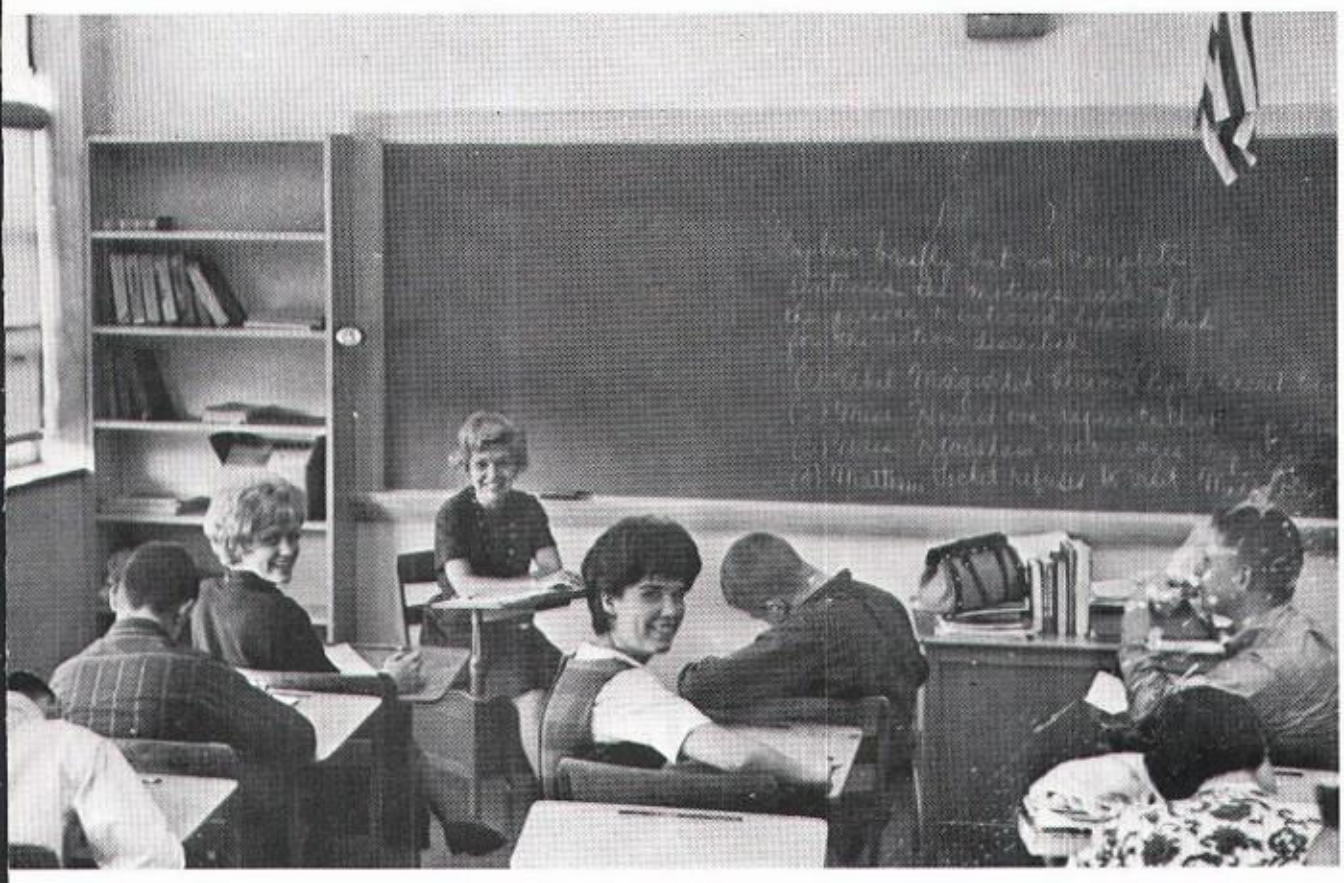
All students are required to successfully complete five semesters of grammar and five semesters of literature. The first three semesters of literature give students samplings in both old and new literature. Juniors study American literature while seniors survey English prose and poetry. All classes are taught spelling every week and library science once each year. Advanced work for enterprising students is provided through Public Speaking, Advanced Composition, and World Literature Classes.

Four new English teachers join faculty



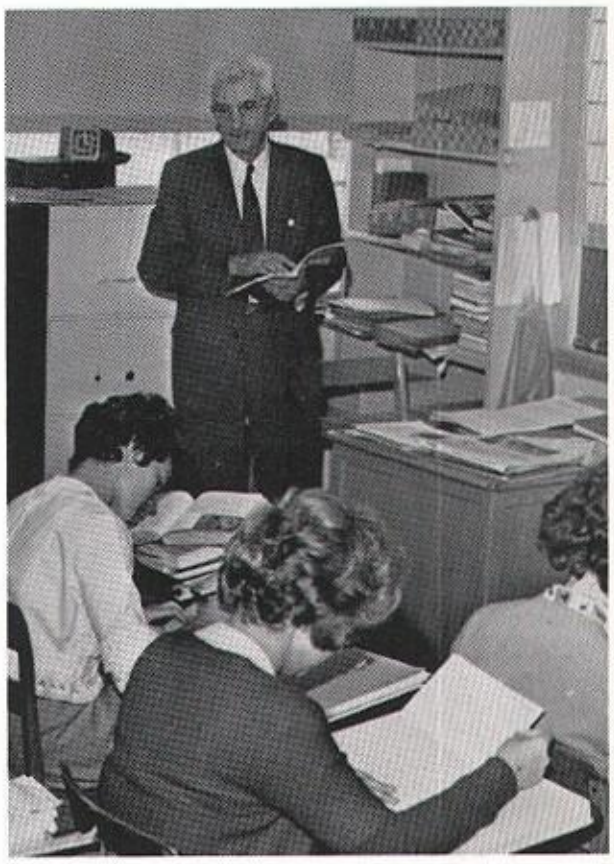
"Get out paper and pencil, class. It's fun-time again," states Mr. Wall.

"Charles Walker, you know good and well that is not a verb," scolds Miss Bushong as Norma D'Elia, Billy Pollard, and Jake Edwards work on their English.



"Turn around and smile for the birdie," advises Mrs. Payne to students Brenda McKimmey, Virginia Eubanks, and Robin Goode.

"Miss Wright, they're calling you to the office for being a bad girl," says Ronnie Holden to his teacher.



"Why don't they laugh at my jokes?" wonders Mr. Baumgardner as Jo Ann Shockey, Sally Kaufman, and Linda Buchanan continue studying.

Maybe Macbeth was a little odd after all reflects Mrs. Myers.

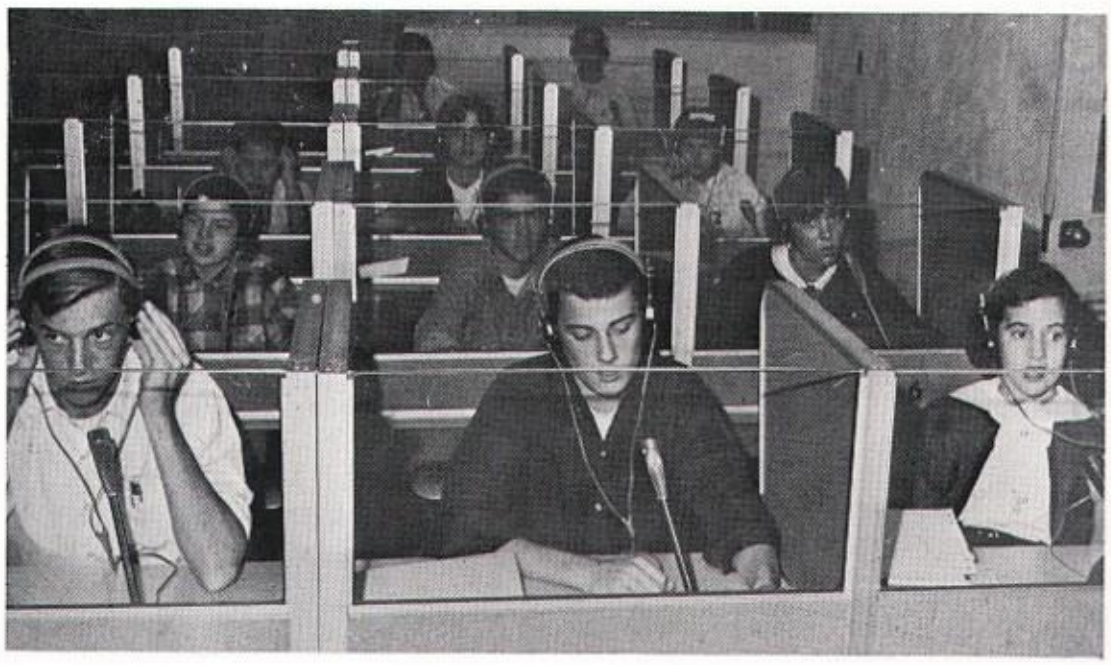
Third year French and Spanish offered

This year the language department is fortunate to have three especially capable teachers. Mrs. Hatch, who teaches French I, II, III, and Spanish I, studied at an Argentine university in 1942 and has traveled throughout France many times. Miss Nicholson, a native of Puerto Rico and resident for about 12 years, teaches Spanish I, II, III. Mrs. Lillian Bridges, here since Loudoun High opened, teaches four years of Latin and sponsors the Latin Club.

Third year French and Spanish were offered for the first time this year. Miss Nicholson's class of seven students intended to improve their conversational skills and become more aware of the conditions and problems in present day South America and Spain. In Mrs. Hatch's third year French class, the goal is to speak French more fluently and to write themes in French. Mrs Bridges' fourth year class, usually composed of upperclassmen, is now only composed of seven sophomores studying the works of the ancient Roman poet.

The language teachers pose in the language lab: Miss Nicholson, Mrs. Hatch, and Mrs. Bridges.

Say something in Spanish?" queries Miss Nicholson of the inquiring photographer.



"What is the tape saying?" think Spanish students Don Gartrell, Tommy Herndon, April Cotton, Ward Orndoff, Don Pitts, and Sue Damewood.

for the first time

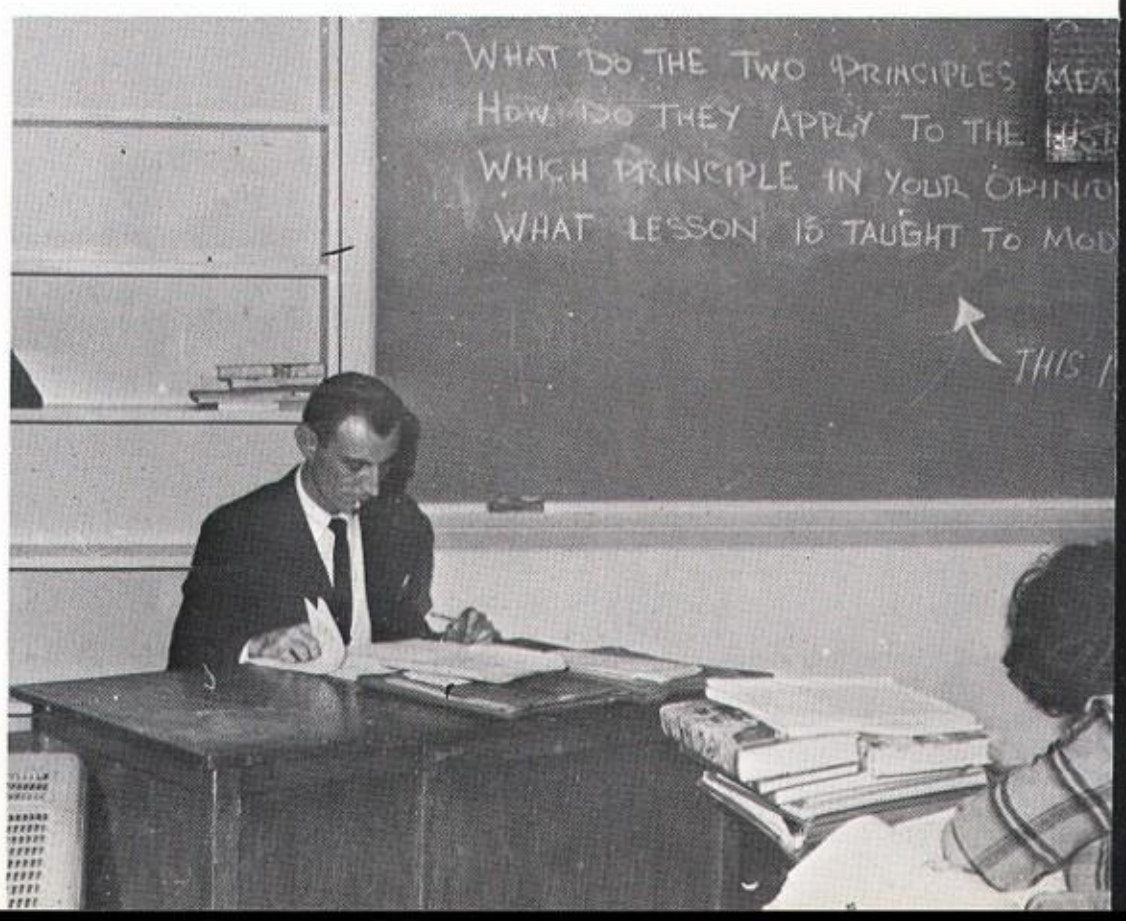
"But, Mrs. Hatch, I didn't know I said that in French," protests Gloria Hatrick.

Miss Nicholson pauses in her Spanish class to reminisce about her days as a student at LCHS.

'64 seniors are first to have

"Don't worry, Sally, you won't be drafted," comforts Mr. Bartlett to Sally Kaufman as he explains the draft requirements.

History staff: Mr. Daughtery, Mrs. Reuter, Mr. Moore, Mr. Bartlett, Mrs. Davis and Mr. Linn.

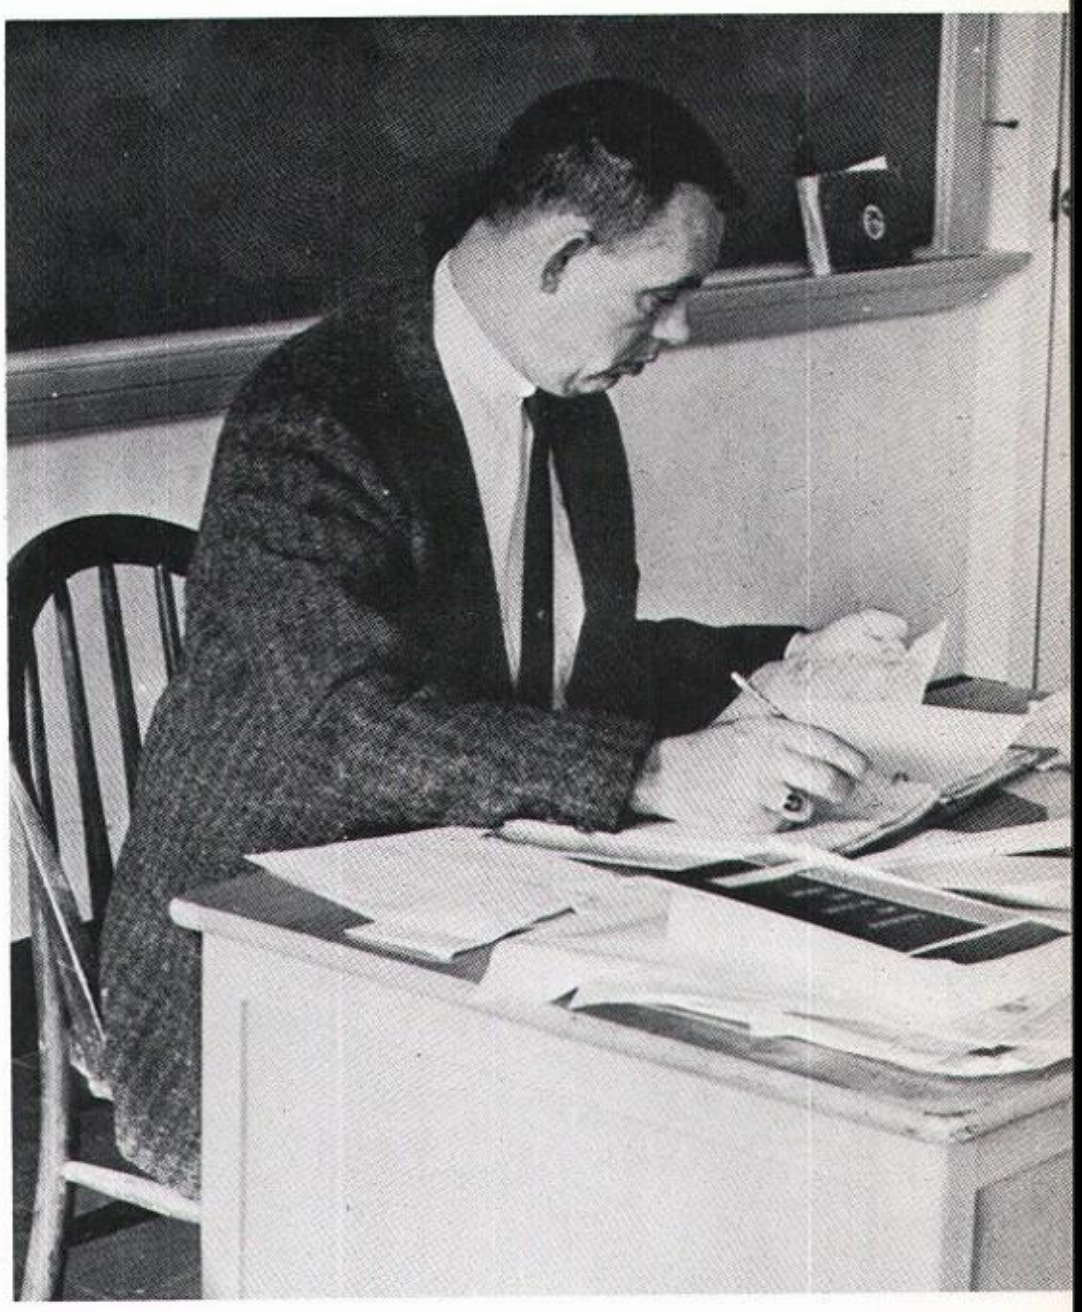


Oh, honestly, I don't understand how my students think of these answers, muses Mr. Moore.

completed ancient and modern history

First period government class studies hard to get that all important credit.

Social science may be defined as the study of human progress, principles, and relations. The Social Science department offers courses in the fields of history, geography, and government. Courses in history include eighth and eleventh grade United States history and world history. A more complete form of world history is offered in a two-year course of ancient and modern history for academic students. United States history and government are required by all juniors and seniors. Underclassmen may elect to take civics, a simplified course in government. Through these courses in social science, Loudoun County High helps to build good citizens of the future.



I just don't know which election to ask about on the test, thinks Mr. Bartlett as he looks over some possible questions.

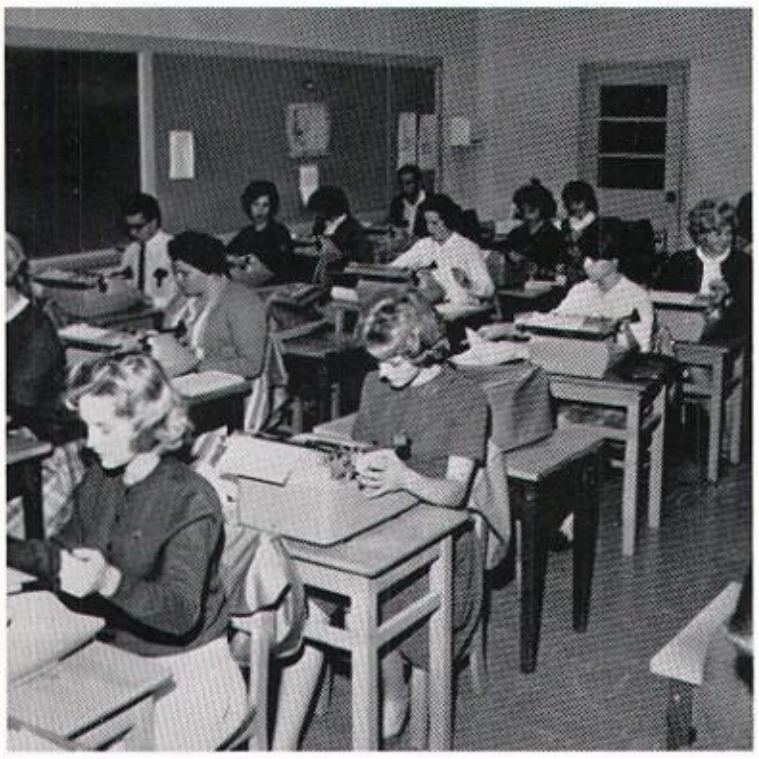
Business Education Department receives electric typewriters

Business teachers: Miss Richards, Mrs. Hough, Mrs. Sowards, and Mrs. Christenson.

To prepare students for work immediately after graduation, the department offers courses in business, bookkeeping, filing, secretarial office training, and general business. Because experience is a vital part of the training, the department takes on many jobs for teachers and organizations. The department sponsors two civil service tests each year for any students who have had business courses. In addition, every April it sponsors jointly with a "Career Day" for business students to talk with representatives from many government agencies and Loudoun County businesses.

I knew I should, have memorized the keyboard! thinks Jane Poland as she works on a difficult typing exercise.

Let's see now, how do you write pray in shorthand? Ready Snodgrass contemplates, as Sharon Pollard chews on her pencil.



Sharon Hill and Linda Aronhalt busily type in fifth period typing class.

"Great, the carriage is jammed! Now what am I supposed to do," says Monda Groves as she struggles with her typewriter.

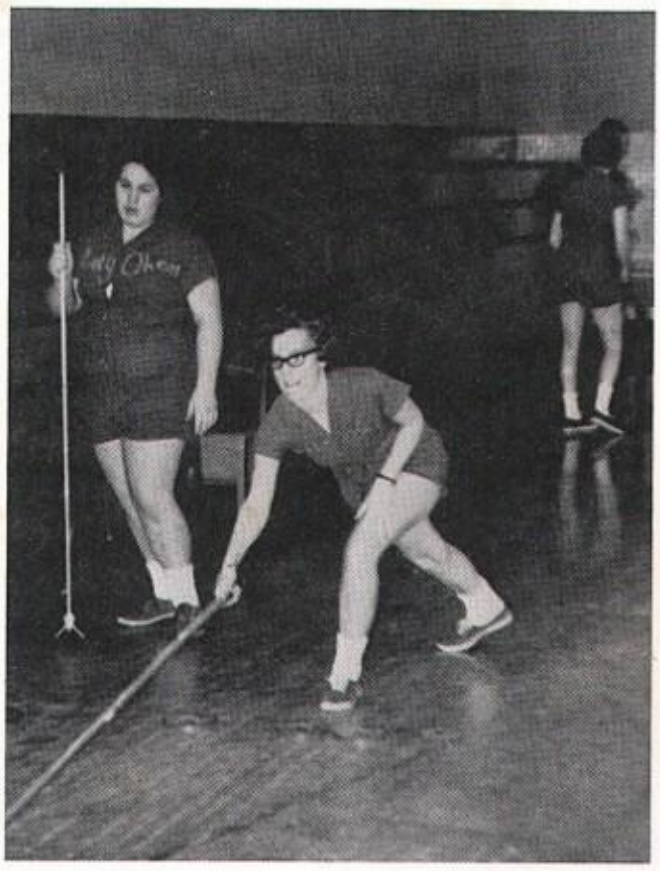
What do all these silly squiggles mean anyway? ponder Phylis Hardy and Linda Matz in a shorthand class.

Phys. ed. boys engage in a friendly game of football.

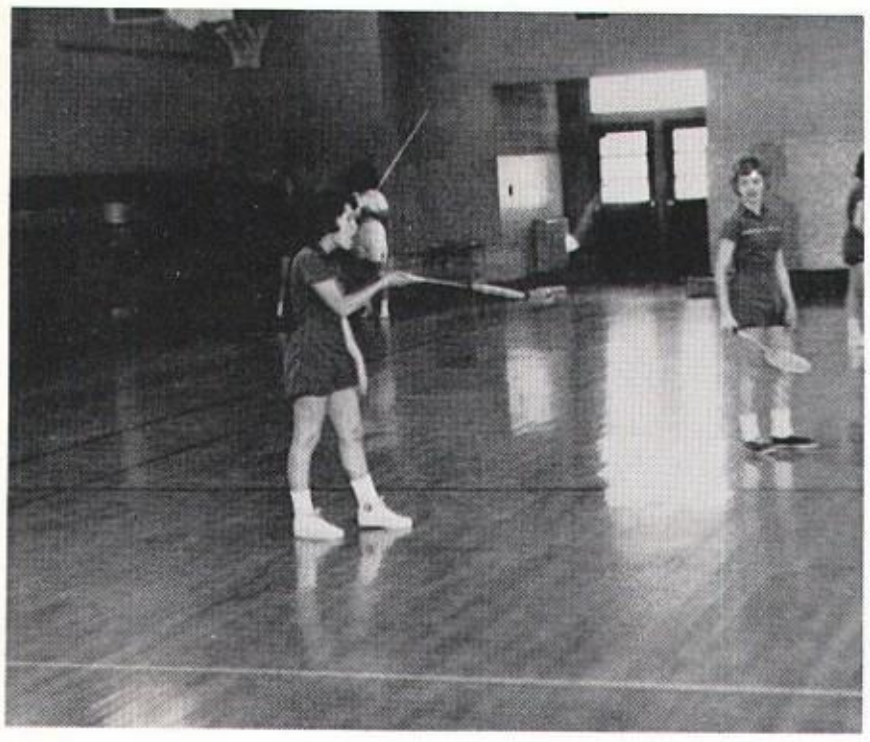
The health and physical education department welcomed a new girls' teacher this year, Mrs. Ezma Lee Stevens. She has aided Mrs. Gross in organizing a Girls' Athletic Association. The girls' gym classes play ping-pong, shuffleboard, and badminton, in addition to the usual basketball, softball, volleyball, track, and tumbling.

Mr. Larson and Mr. Vance, the boys' health and phys. ed. teachers, teach the boys the techniques of basketball, football, volleyball, softball, track, and tumbling, also they are in charge of intramural sports for boys.

The other half of the course is health, which is the study of the human body and its care. For freshmen, a semester each of first aid and of the classroom drivers' education is required.



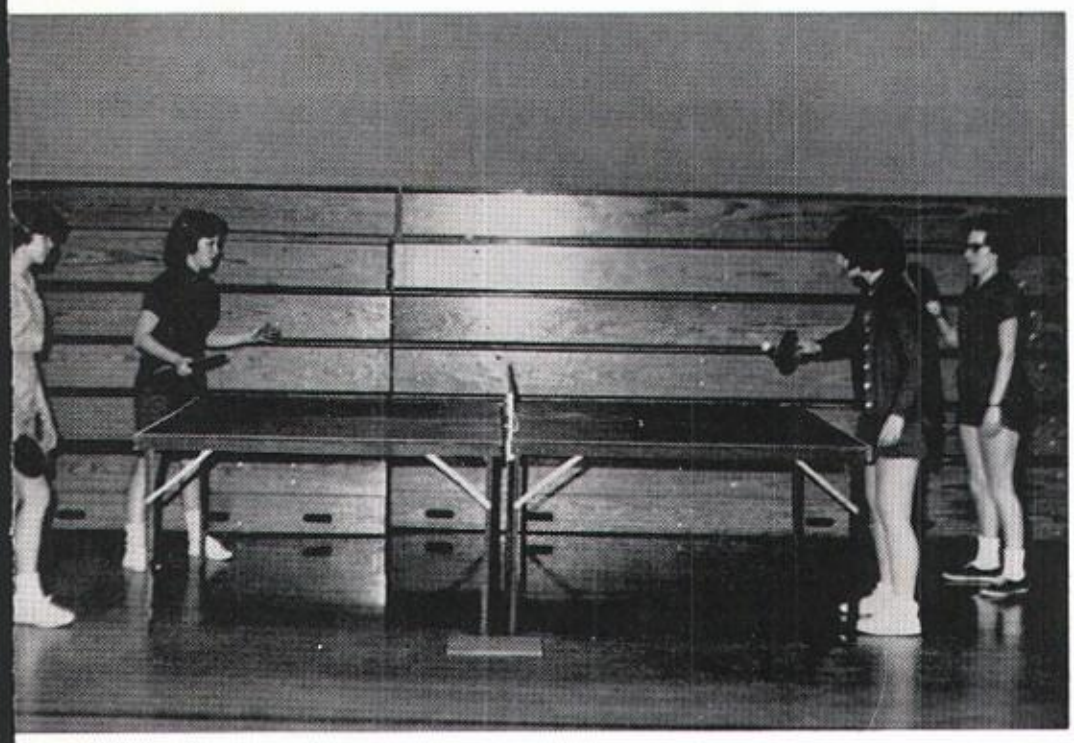
Mary Lou Owens and Sonja Shockey play the new sport of shuffleboard.



Sarah Carter tries to hit the "birdie" in a hot game of badminton, while Barbara Betters waits her turn.

Nine girls and thirteen boys assist gym teachers

Members of the physical education department, Mr. Vance, Mr. Larson, Mrs. Stevens, and Mrs. Gross, seem to be enjoying a private joke.



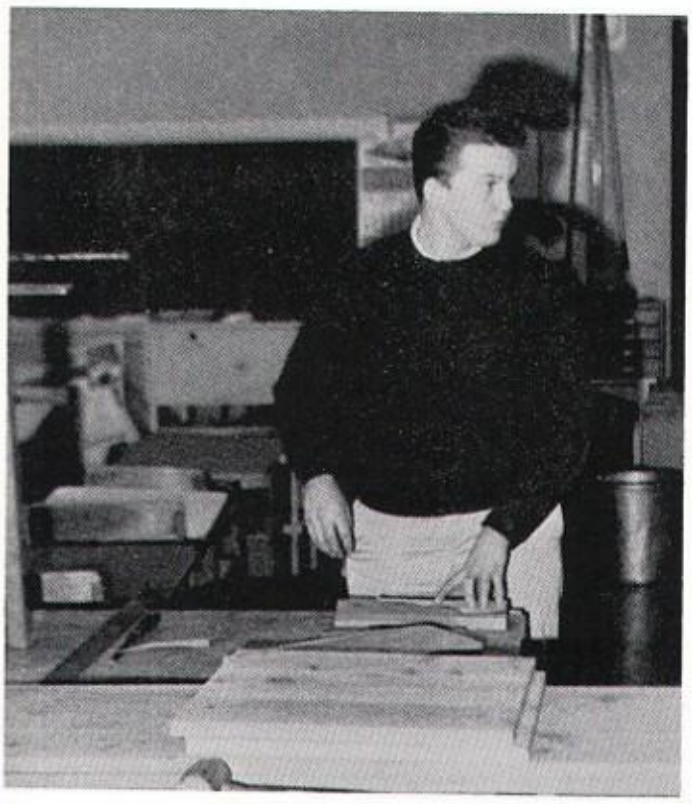
Betty Rhyne, Cathy Sudduth, Bonnie Shipe, and Sonja Shockey enjoy a lively game of ping-pong.

An eighth grade physical education class practices on the high bar.

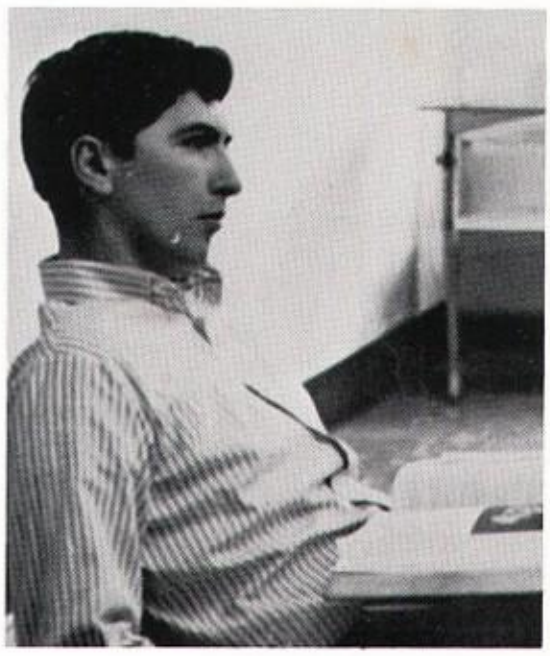
The shop makes many useful items

Vo Ag teacher Mr. Coffelt meets with Industrial Arts teachers Mr. Juhle and Mr. Cane in the Industrial Arts Department.

Where's the best place to find expert woodwork? In the shop, of course! Many industrial arts students make bowls, bookshelves, and lamps, while the more advanced students, averaging three large projects a year, build china cabinets, desks, coffee tables, and cedar chests. In the mechanical drawing classes, students design the projects they later build. There is some metal working equipment for the advanced to use. When the old jig-saw broke down, David Townsend exactly duplicated unavailable parts. Under the expert instruction of Mr. Kane and Mr. Juhle, the students learn woodworking not only for future professions, such as carpentry, but also for a hobby.

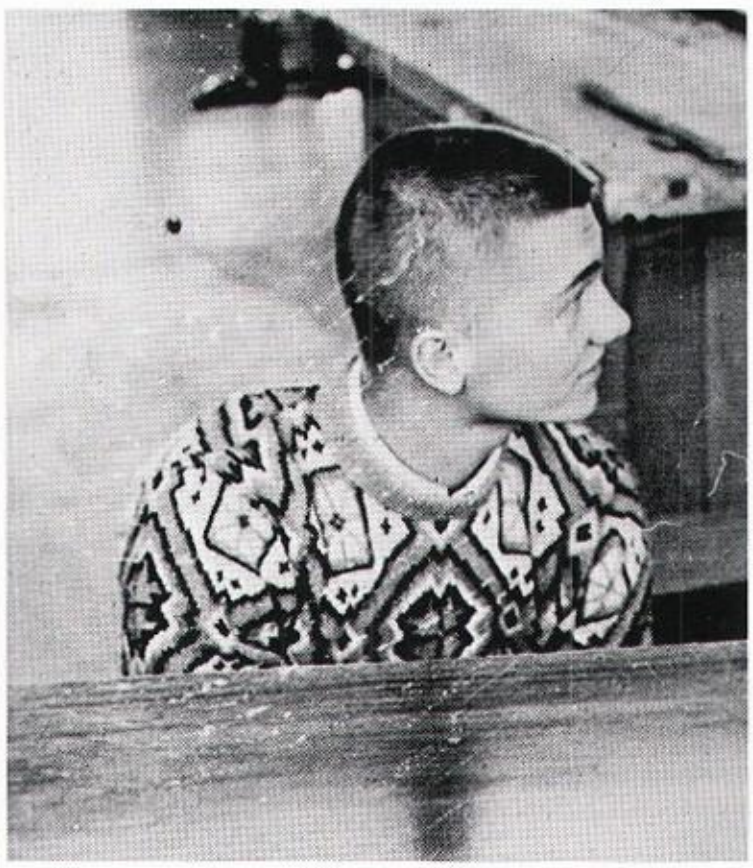


"I refuse to stand here and hold this board all day," exclaims Terry Thomas in dismay.



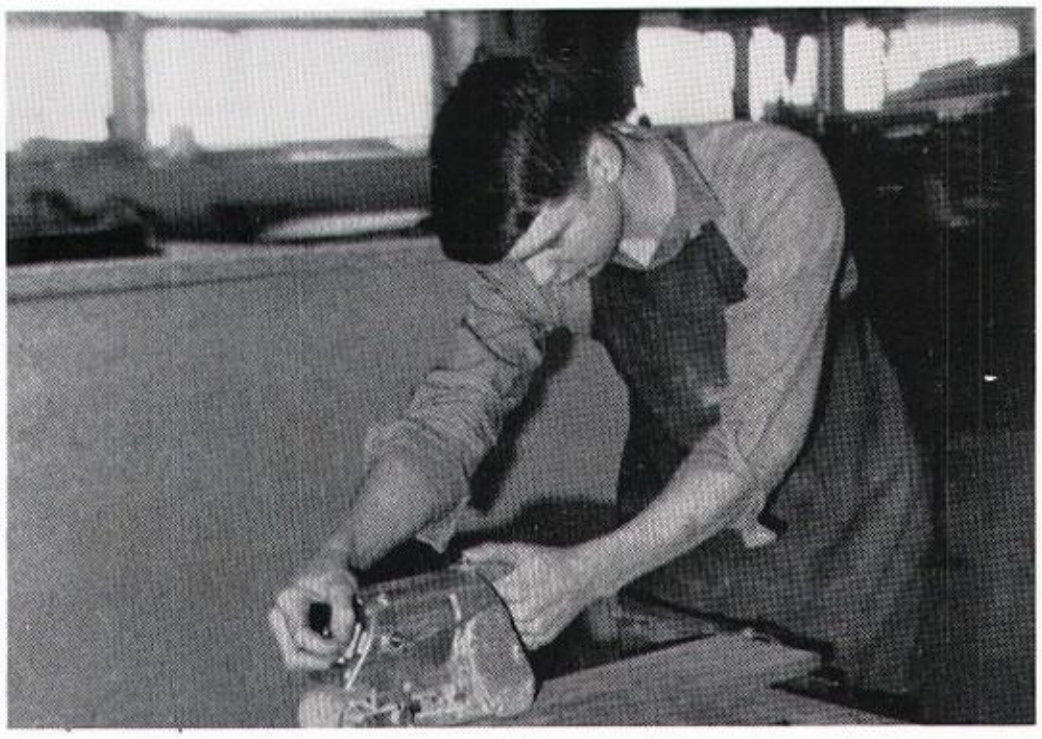
"You know, Mr. Coffelt really does look like Orville Freeman," Donald Neff says to himself.

David Townsend listens intently as Mr. Cane explains certain procedures to follow in metal working.



I wish I were as tall as Mr. Juhle, dreams David Church as his mind wanders from his shop project.

What are all those little shavings? wonders Howard Armel as he works exceptionally on a piece of wood.



Home Economics prepares girls for marriage

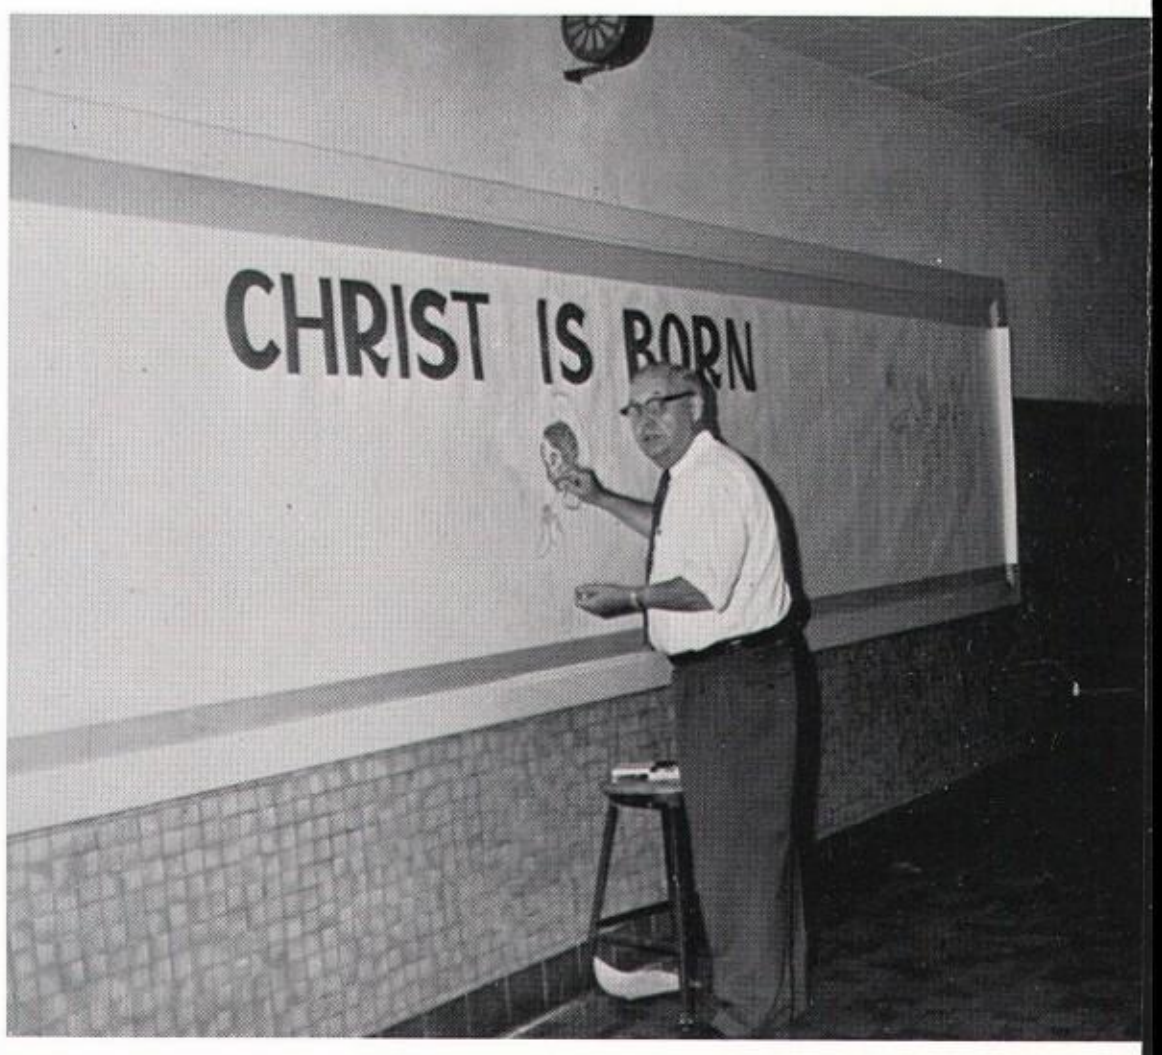
Mrs. Atwell shows one of her students how to untangle her thread.

"But I can't even boil water!" This plaintive cry may be heard the first day of home economics class. But after a year of this course the girls not only know how to boil water and cook simple foods, but they have learned about personal appearance, room improvement, and how to make their own clothing. The second year in home economics teaches the girls about housing and home furnishings, child care, and more advanced cooking and clothing.

Art Department gets new projector and slides

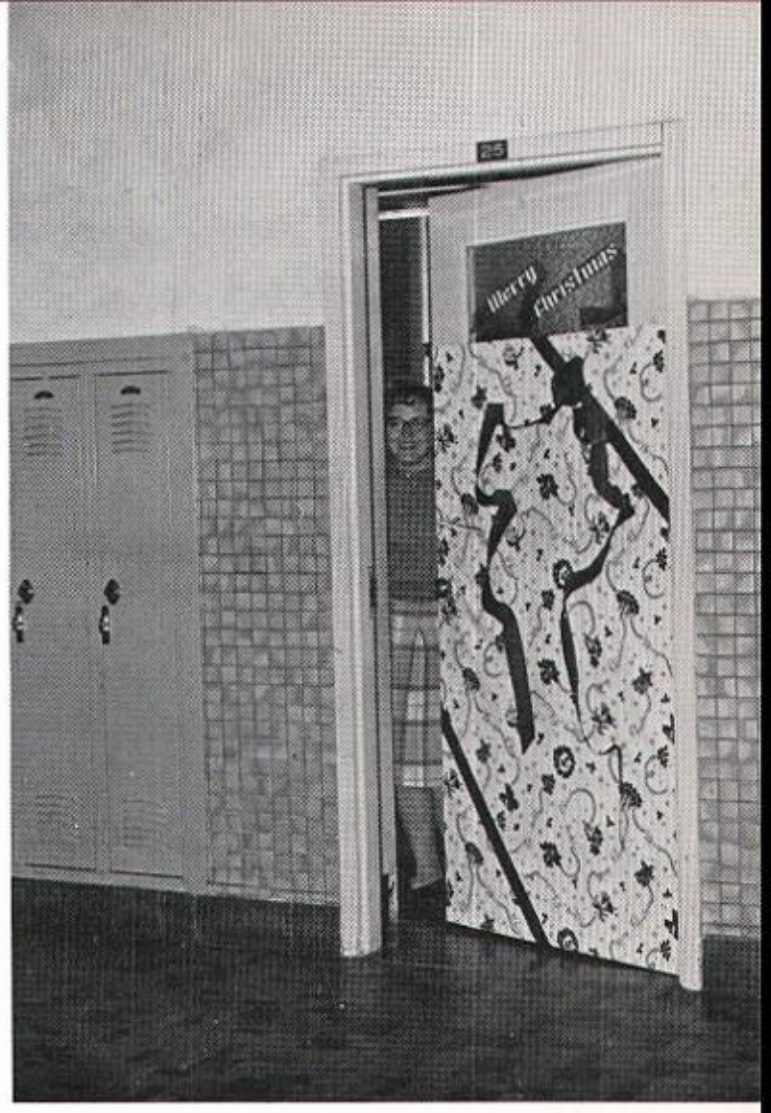
Art class is sometimes a way to break the monotony of the daily routine, as shown here by the water painter.



Art teacher Mr. Davis fills in details on the bulletin board display at Christmas time.

For the second year at Loudoun High, the influence of Mr. John Davis, art teacher, was found throughout the school in the form of posters and art displays.

There are five art courses offered to students. The fundamental course is basic art, which gives the budding artists a working knowledge of art, as well as a sense of color and proportion that is useful in everyday life. In the first semester design course the students create original designs for patterns, housing, and clothing. The second semester course, art appreciation, is a study of art through the ages and is open to students who have never taken an art course. Another art course is drawing and painting. Sculpture is also a specialized course for the advanced student.



Miss Wright peeks around the corner of her gaily decorated door in her effort to bring more art to us.

Bobbi Fultz concentrates on doing a good job with her water colors.

The Concer

Three music courses under the direction of Mrs. Alice Remsburg are junior chorus, concert choir, and music laboratory. The only requirement for the junior chorus, which is open to eighth grade girls and boys, is a genuine interest in music and singing. The objective of the class is learning music through active participation.

Music laboratory, an elective for one or two semesters, is a new music course in Virginia schools that was pioneered in Loudoun County schools this year. It is designed for those students who wish to increase their knowledge and understanding of music, who have not been able to schedule a music course before, and who have a limited music experience. It is the beginning of a more meaningful appreciation of music and perhaps eventual participation in some performing group.

The Concert Choir sings superbly at the Christmas Assembly.

Choir

The concert choir is open to tenth, eleventh, and twelfth graders with musical ability and extraordinary interest in choral music. A highly skilled group with unusual talent and "teachability," the concert choir represents the school in the VMEA District Music Festival and All-State Chorus.

Connie Fuel and Diane Lippold wait intently for the signal to begin singing.

"Sing, don't just squeak!" orders Mr. Fitzgerald to Boys' Chorus members.

Tom Pyne, Pete Bailey, and Charles Leeper chuckle about a song that Boys' Chorus sings.

Boys' Chorus sings at Richmond

This year the Boys' Chorus was honored to be the only choral group singing in Richmond at the Virginia Education Association Convention for the division superintendents and the school principals. Led by Mr. Patrick J. Fitzgerald, the chorus of one hundred voices has highlighted many school programs since its beginning in '61. Any boy may become a member, for there are no special musical qualifications. Every Friday during activity period, the Boys' Chorus meets in the music room to practice the songs for its next appearance.

THE JUNIOR BAND

Band learns to play most difficult grade music

From thrilling marches to melodic music, the Loudoun County High Band boosted school spirit at football and basketball games and entertained at several concerts. During Homecoming they serenaded the Queen and her Court. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Stanley, the band demonstrated its marching skill in the famous Winchester Apple Blossom Parade. These sixty musicians also presented several successful concerts, including the Winter Concert and the Fine Arts presentation. Extracurricular activities, such as the stage band and the brass and woodwind ensembles, added to the experience and enjoyment of the participants.

MIGHTY RA

ORGANIZATION

To meet the challenge of tomorrow, the student of today must not only be grounded in academic subjects, but also those specific fields wherein lie his individual needs and interests. Filling the demand for emphasis, the school organization provides valuable training and experience, as well as enjoyment. These flexible units, with myriad purposes and activities, enrich the student, the school, and education itself.

"A worthy purpose, patient energy for its accomplishment, a resoluteness undaunted by difficulties, and then success."

SCA sponsors Homecoming

President Evelyn Cook prepares the business for the next SCA meeting.

For the first time in the school's history the Student Cooperative Association took charge of the Homecoming activities in November. Adding new features to old ones, the club made the event a huge success.

An SCA committee worked during the summer to have handbooks ready for distribution to eighth graders and transfer students on the first day of school. In December the organization sponsors a movie with the proceeds going to the Christmas fund of the County Welfare Department. Students with outstanding academic and leadership records receive monograms from the SCA in the spring.

The Student Cooperative Association works throughout the year to develop good citizenship, to promote effective public relations, to strengthen school spirit, and to provide a forum for student expression. Every member helps "Attain New Heights" in fulfilling the organization's goals.

SCA officers: Bill Hatch, reporter, Carolyn Spencer, vice-president, Evelyn Cook, president, Lynn Rogers, secretary and Daille Hyde, treasurer with their sponsors Mr. Lynn, Mrs. Christenson, and Mr. Vance.

Mrs. Christenson listens intently to an SCA motion.

"I really did enjoy SCA this morning," comments representative Rose Branan.

NHS inducts ten new members in tapping ceremony

NHS members, First row: Jo Ann Atwell, Sue Lukkarilla, Barbara Thompson, Bonnie Cook, Jane Ricklefs, Sherry Lacey, Sally Kaufman, Sandra Lukkarilla, and Jill Forsyth. Second row: Helen Phillips, Joyce Saunders, Jane Craig, Marsha Hughes, Jean Rosen, Linda Martz, Jo Ann Shockey, David Craun. Third row: Bob Thompson, Jim Chamblin, Mary Flourney, Evelyn Cook, Sally Jenkins, Jane Poland, Del Camp, Gene Ashton.

Holding a College Panel, sponsoring the "It's Academic" team, and selecting the graduation speaker are all duties of the National Honor Society chapter at Loudoun County High.

The club not only conducted its own impressive induction ceremony in the fall but established a new NHS at Loudoun Valley High School. Our own induction ceremony was even more impressive this year. The tapping itself was different —the names were not called in alphabetical order so as to increase the secrecy of the assembly.

LCHS Alumni home from college Christmas told academic juniors and seniors of the fun, trials, and tribulations of college life.

NHS Officers: Sue Lukkarilla, Treasurer; JoAnn Shockey, Vice-President; Sandra Lukkarilla; Jill Forsyth, President pose with Mr. Moore the sponsor.

Tommy Ketron first boy president of FTA

Co-sponsor, Mrs. Louise Patton; Thomas Ketron, President; Margaret Muse, Reporter; Mandy Farris, Historian-Librarian; Mary Lou Owens, Song Leader; Janet Alberts, Parliamentarian; Barbara Fletcher, Vice-President; JoAnne Atwell, Secretary.

"But, Miss Nicholson, I don't want to go," protests Tommy Ketron, as Barbara Fletcher and David Townsend travel first class to the FTA Convention.

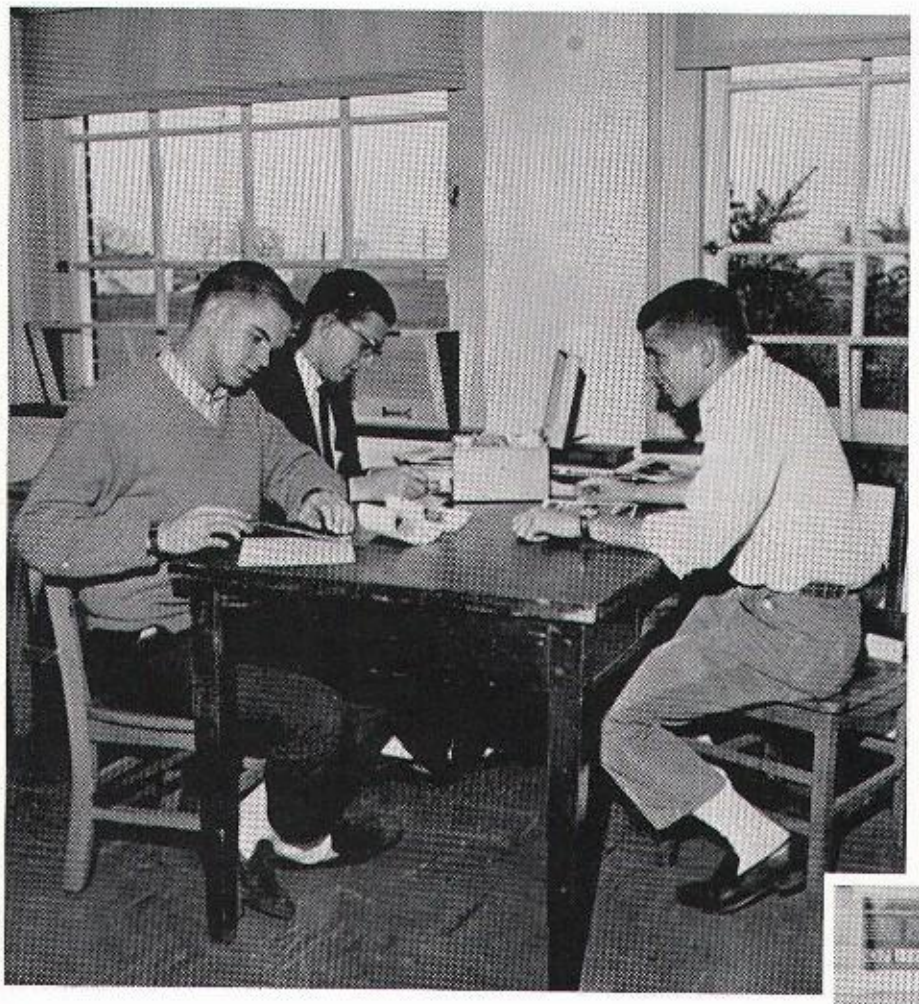
"A trip to Madison!" This is a new Future Teachers of America project—sponsoring a spring trip to Madison College. Other FTA activities are providing the mottoes of the week which are displayed in the center hall; and giving an apple to each teacher during National Education Week. A junior or senior member has the opportunity to serve his school and club as a substitute teacher. The club sends three delegates to the state convention and gives an award to the senior member who has contributed the most to the club during the year. Mrs. Florence Reuter and Mrs. Louise Patton sponsor Loudoun's FTA chapter, which certainly does its best to encourage high school students to enter the teaching profession.

The Copy Staff works hard to write unusual copy. They are: typist Barbara Trussell, Tom McCabe, Copy Editor Mary Flournoy, Sarah Brownrigg, and Gene Harrison.



Sports Editor T. Jay Howard and staff member Bob Thompson work on their football pages, while Del Camp tries to figure out who that unknown player is.

Last spring this year's Lord Loudoun staff tackled the task of creating a completely new annual. The goal became a new theme, new page layouts, and even a new cover. The handful of workers, numbering only eighteen, devoted themselves to a long, difficult labor. The copy staff wrote interesting copy and captioned pictures, painstakingly taken by the photographers. From the jumble of copy and pictures, the layout staff devised functional patterns for each page. Guided by Mr. William Bartlett, the staff produced this 1964 Lord Loudoun. The labor was long and difficult—but rewarding.

The business staff, Tommy Ketron, Jill Forsyth, and Zadiee Hoffman, add up the money from ads.

Layout staff members Ed Batterson and Candi Caulk fit pictures on pages, as Layout Editor Paul Biggers counts blocks for a headline.

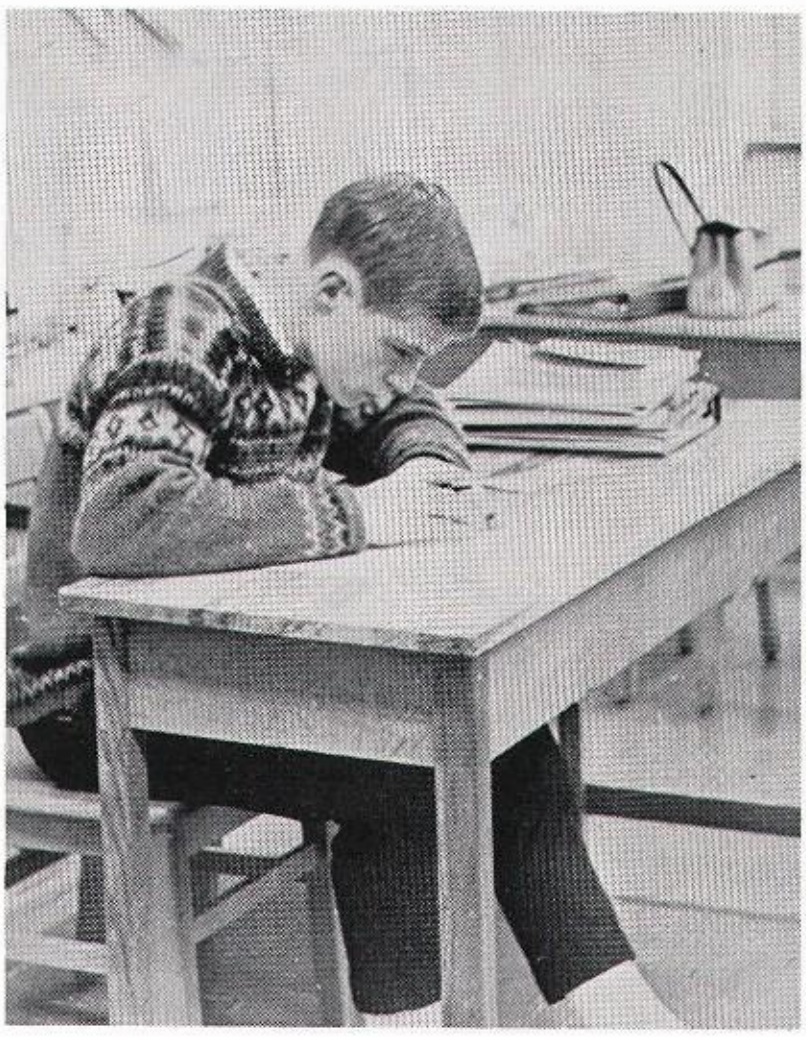
Raider Editors Jim Chamblin, Tommy Jewell, Jean Rosen, Bill Clemens, and cartoonist Pam Radebach go over the latest edition with sponsor Mrs. Niman.



"Now this is how you turn the film for the next picture," explains picture editor Bill Clemens to his assistants, Alan Warner and Bert Goulait.

The presses roll, and another Raider is created and made ready for distribution. This year twelve new issues were printed on the new offset-job press of the Loudoun Times Mirror. For the first time the Raider conducted a mid-semester subscription drive. The Raider staff is very proud of its publication, which included such old favorites as the "Shadow" and new attractions such as the "Feature Teacher" column.

Reporter Buddy Hammerly writes sports copy for the next issue.

Hi-Y members attend church together

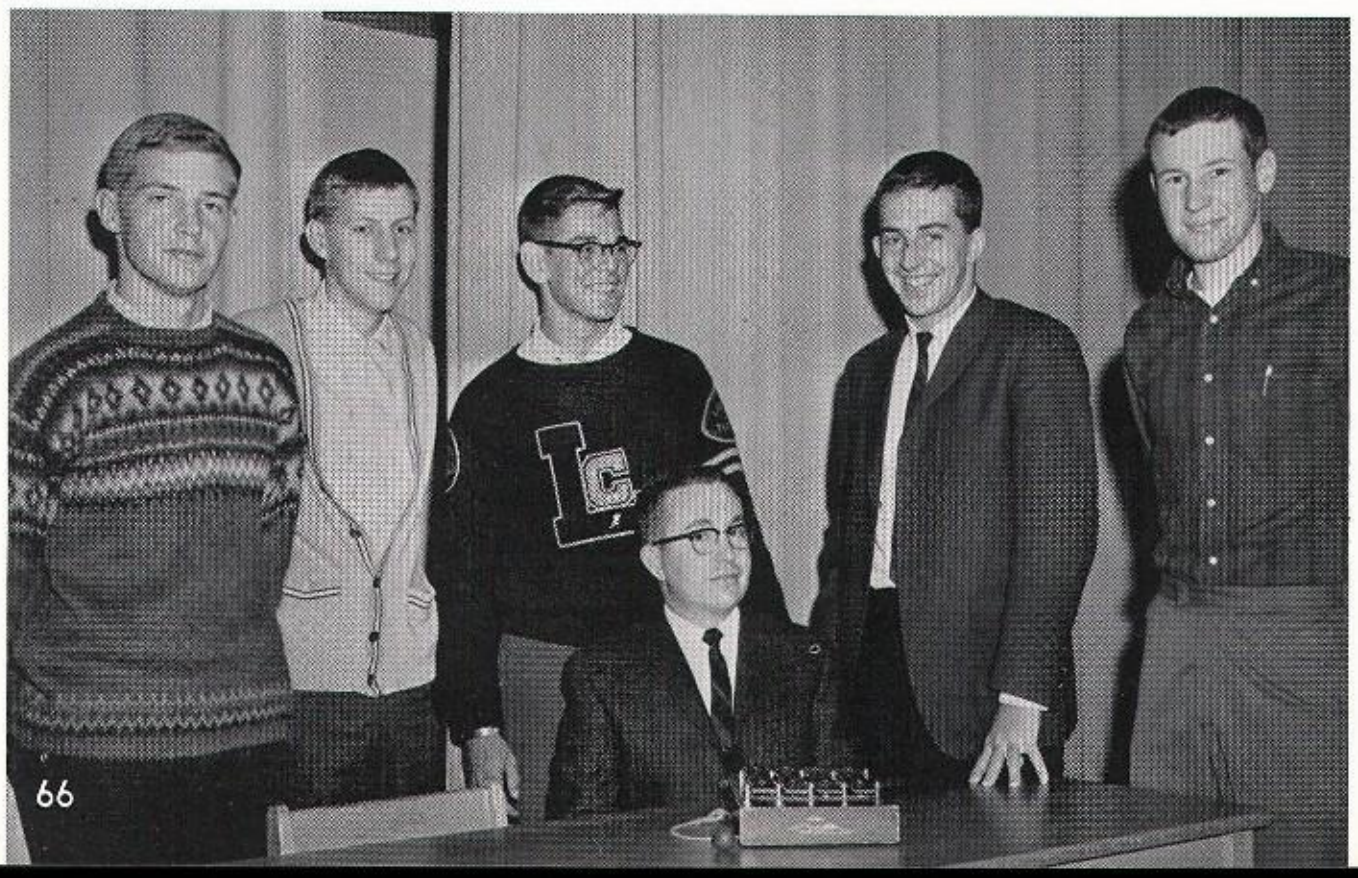
The Hi-Y, which is affiliated with the YMCA, promotes Christian character and fellowship in young men. Sponsored by Mr. Alan Smith, the Hi-Y members serve not only the school, but also the community. They raise and lower the flag in front of the school and say the blessing at lunchtime. Alternating with the Tri-Hi-Y, they lead the student body in devotions each morning. The sixteen members tried to attend a different church one Sunday a month. At school they sponsor the Red Cross drive and the annual Thanksgiving Assembly. They sent several delegates to the Model General Assembly in Richmond.



Hi-Y officers: President Buddy Hammerly; Vice-President, Jim Chamblin; Treasurer, John Elgin; Secretary, T. Jay Howard, Chaplain, Bill Clemens.

Tri-Hi-Y sends delegates to Model General Assembly

Tri-Hi-Y officers: Mrs. Payne, sponsor; Carolyn Ramsey, president; Linda Buchanan, chaplain; Linda Massie, secretary; Teresa Carnes, treasurer; and Joyce Gill, vice-president.

"To create, maintain, and extend high principles of Christian character throughout the home, school, and community," is the theme of the Tri-Hi-Y. Giving Thanksgiving dinner to a needy family and sponsoring the March of Dimes Drive are examples of the club's monthly projects.

The Tri-Hi-Y shares the responsibility of giving devotions over the public address system each morning. The club sponsors the Christmas Assembly in addition to decorating the auditorium appropriately. Together with the Hi-Y it plans the Easter Assembly. In the spring a few members attended the Model General Assembly in Richmond.

Fashion Board models at Loudoun Auto Show

Fashion Board members: Sarah Brownrigg, Sherry Ritchie, Judy Steadman, Helen Phillips, Joan Cockerille, and Anne Rooney.

Every year three or four junior girls are chosen to be on the Fashion Board, sponsored by Raflo's. They are required to have poise and an interest in fashions. These girls continue to work through their senior year. The girls are taught to apply make-up and of course, how to model clothes. The fashion board models fashions from Raflo's and the Budget Shop at various meetings throughout the county.

Judy Steadman, Sarah Brownrigg, Joan Cockerille, and Sherry Ritchie pose in the latest spring fashions.

Debaters have new sponsors — Mr. Sullins, Mr. Dietz

The Debate Club was on the move. Under the vigorous leadership of Mr. Sullins and Mr. Dietz, the Debate Club launched a new campaign to bring victory and honor to the school. Believing there is no substitute for preparedness, the club secured large amounts of reference materials and jumped right into the job of preparing effective debates. To provide experience for the forensic debate tournament, the club participated in a number of inter-league debates. These orators of LCHS, through their great efforts, brought honor and esteem to the whole school.

"Well there's nothing wrong with that statement," points out President Bill Clemens to Mr. Sullins Secretary-Treasurer Tom McCabe, and Mr. Dietz.

Dramatics headed by a council of twelve

Wendy Hawkins is a guinea pig for Miss Wright's make-up talents.

"You're out of character!" yells sponsor Mr. Richard Wall in Dramatics Club workshops and rehearsals.

The club's chief objective is to cultivate dramatic talent. The workshops teach the techniques of drama, make-up, and other fields of playmaking. The actual plays, however, are the oral test of what the members have learned about dramatics.

This year, presented two comedies to the student body, in addition to the production of a play for competition in the One-Act Play Festival.

The club is headed for the first time by a twelve-member council, and aided by a new co-sponsor, Miss Charlene Wright.

FEATURES

Our school life is not all work and no play. School offers us many opportunities for amusement and just plain fun. Outstanding in these opportunities is Homecoming, when the whole school is excited by the game and the special activities. Receiving an award or being elected as a senior superlative are also memorable events in our school career.

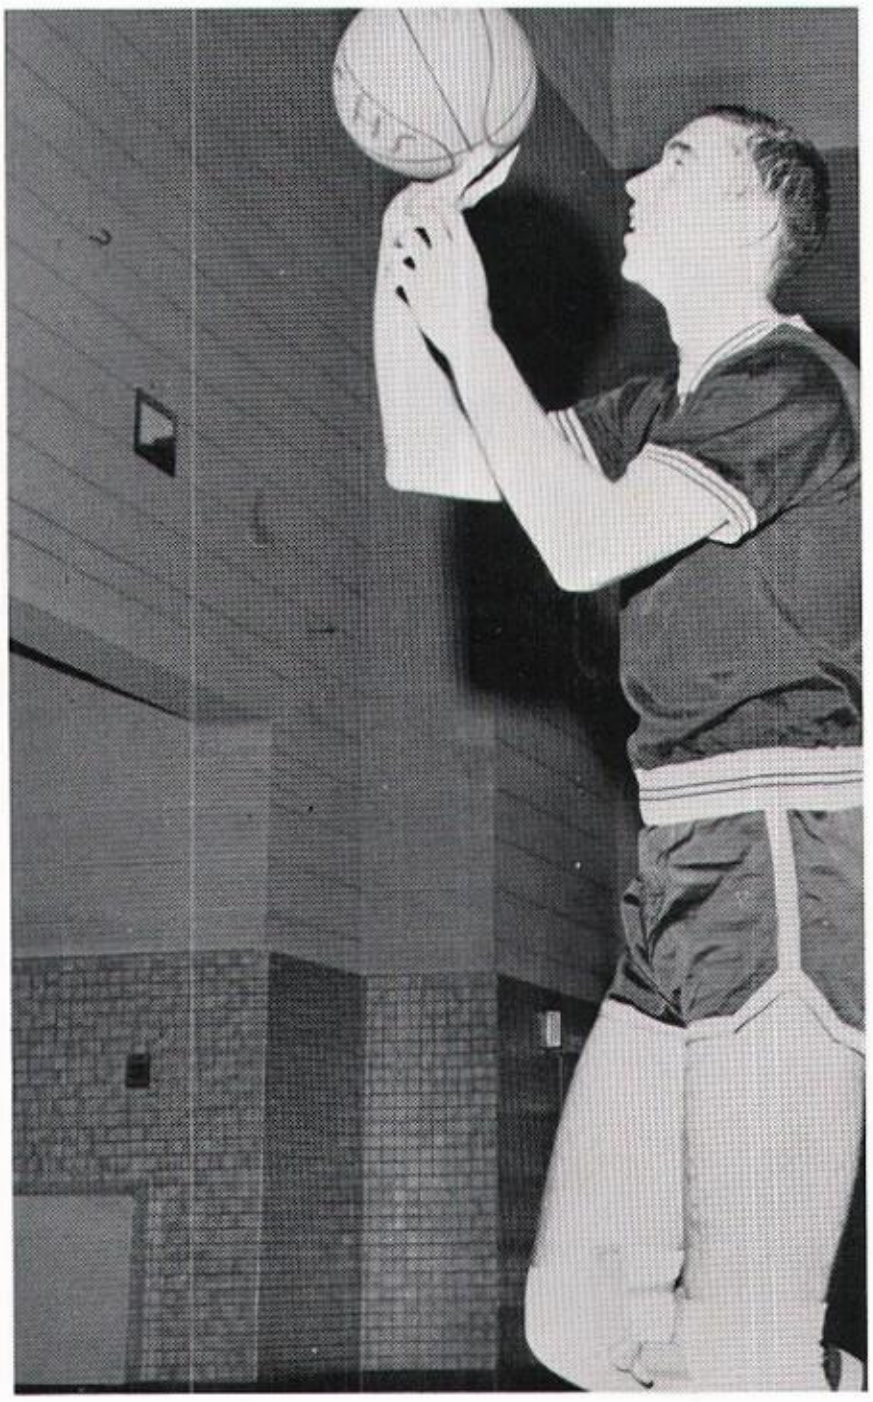
"It is doing some service to himself to amuse innocently."

Senior Superlatives

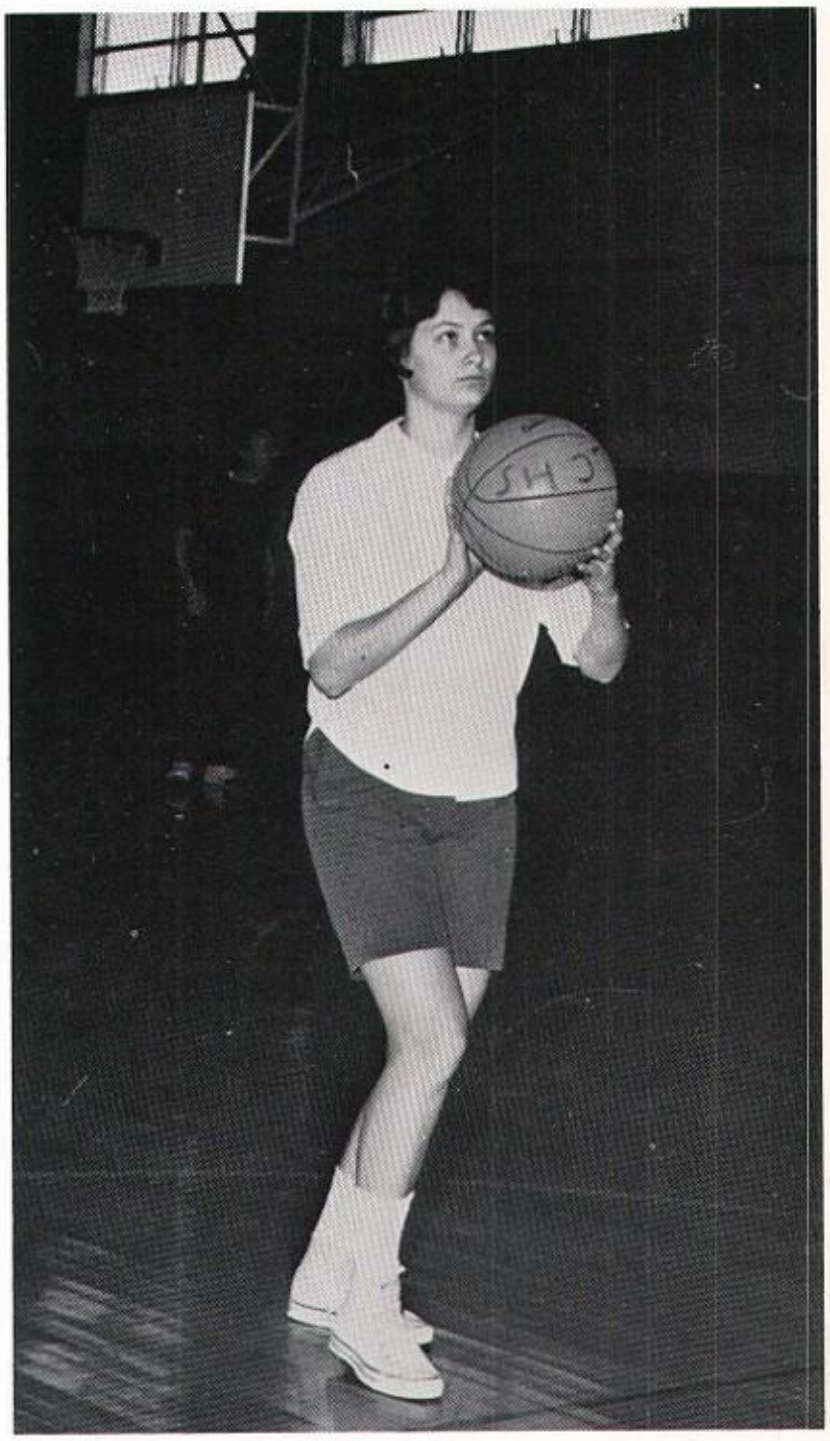
BEST MANNERED—Through these portals pass Loudoun's best mannered students, Gerri Norman and T. Jay Howard.

WITTIEST—Sheila Embrey simply can't quit laughing as she tries to stop Dan Chamblin from fleeing school.

MOST SCHOOL SPIRIT— Sally Kaufman laughs at Billy Keen's suggestion for a new cheer.



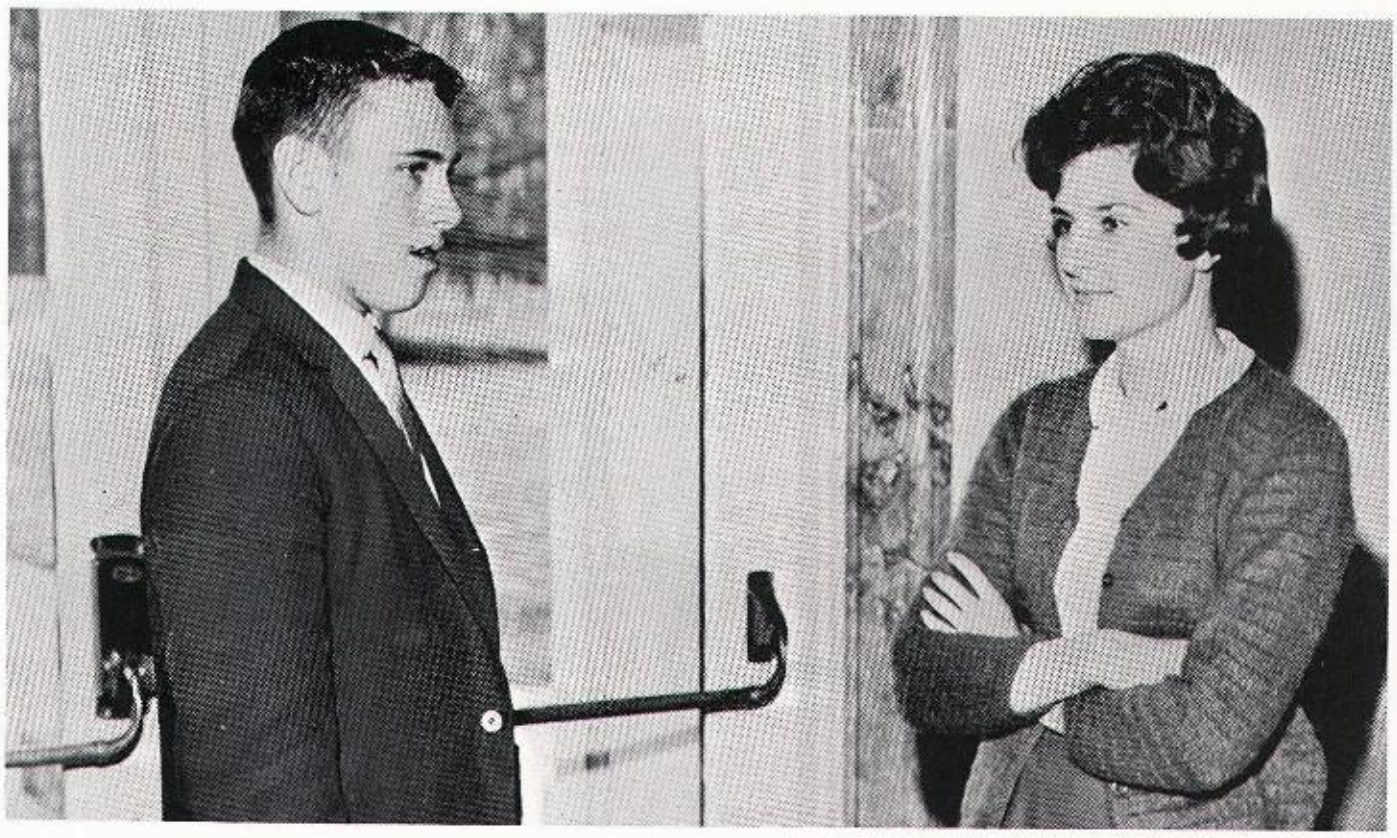
MOST ATHLETIC—Basketball is only one of the many sports in which Dennis Britton excels.



MOST ATHLETIC—Marcia Lowery works on her foul shot form during practice.

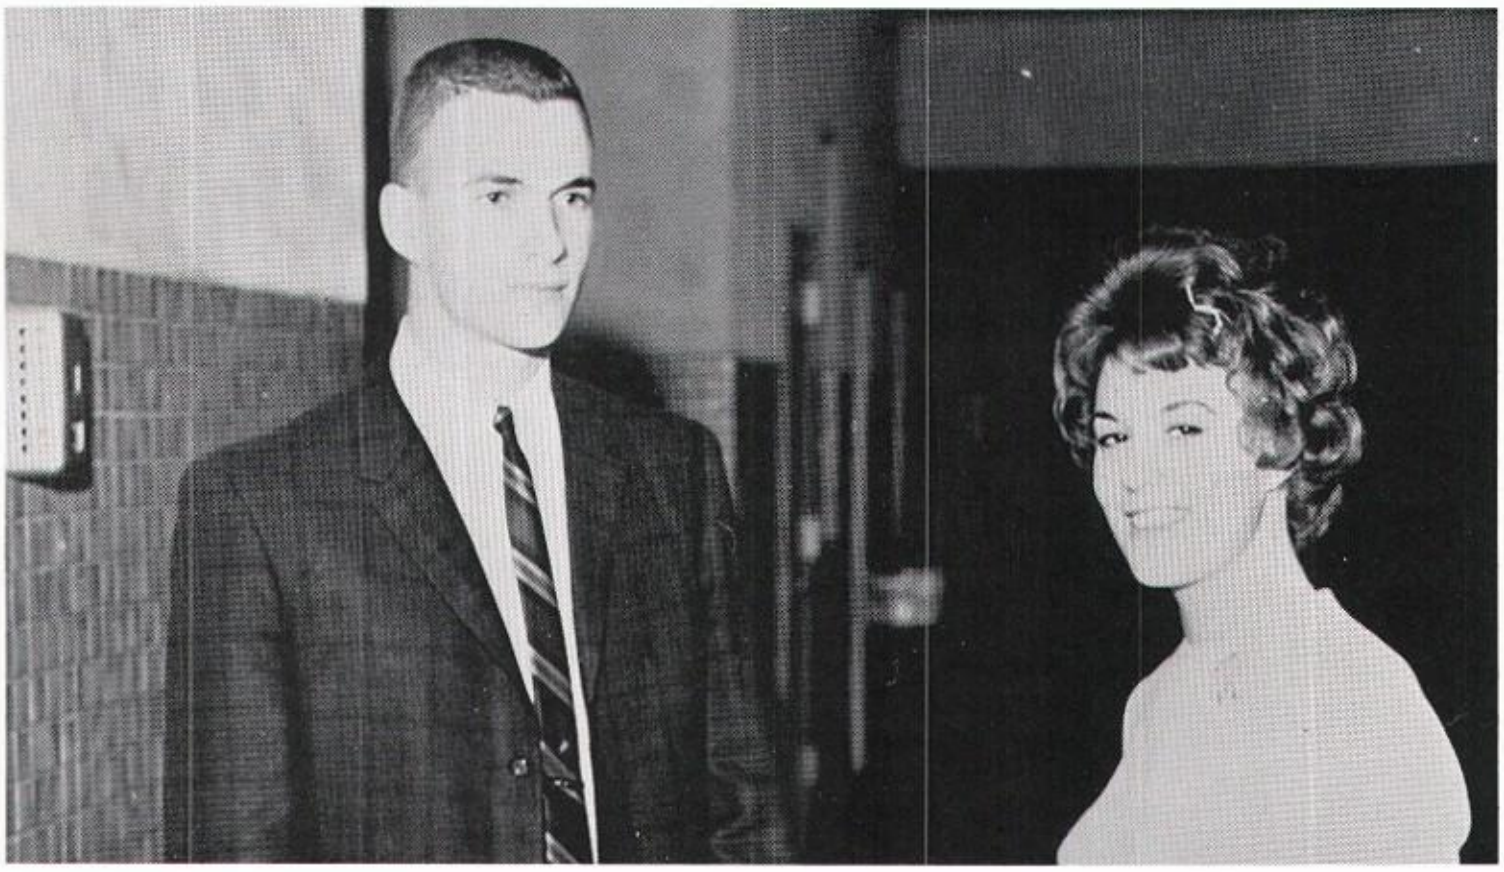
BEST DRESSED—Helen Phillips and Buddy Hammerly display their excellent taste in clothes before a mural in the home economics room.

MOST LIKELY to SUCCEED—Evelyn Cook and Jim Chamblin wish each other well for whatever the future may bring.

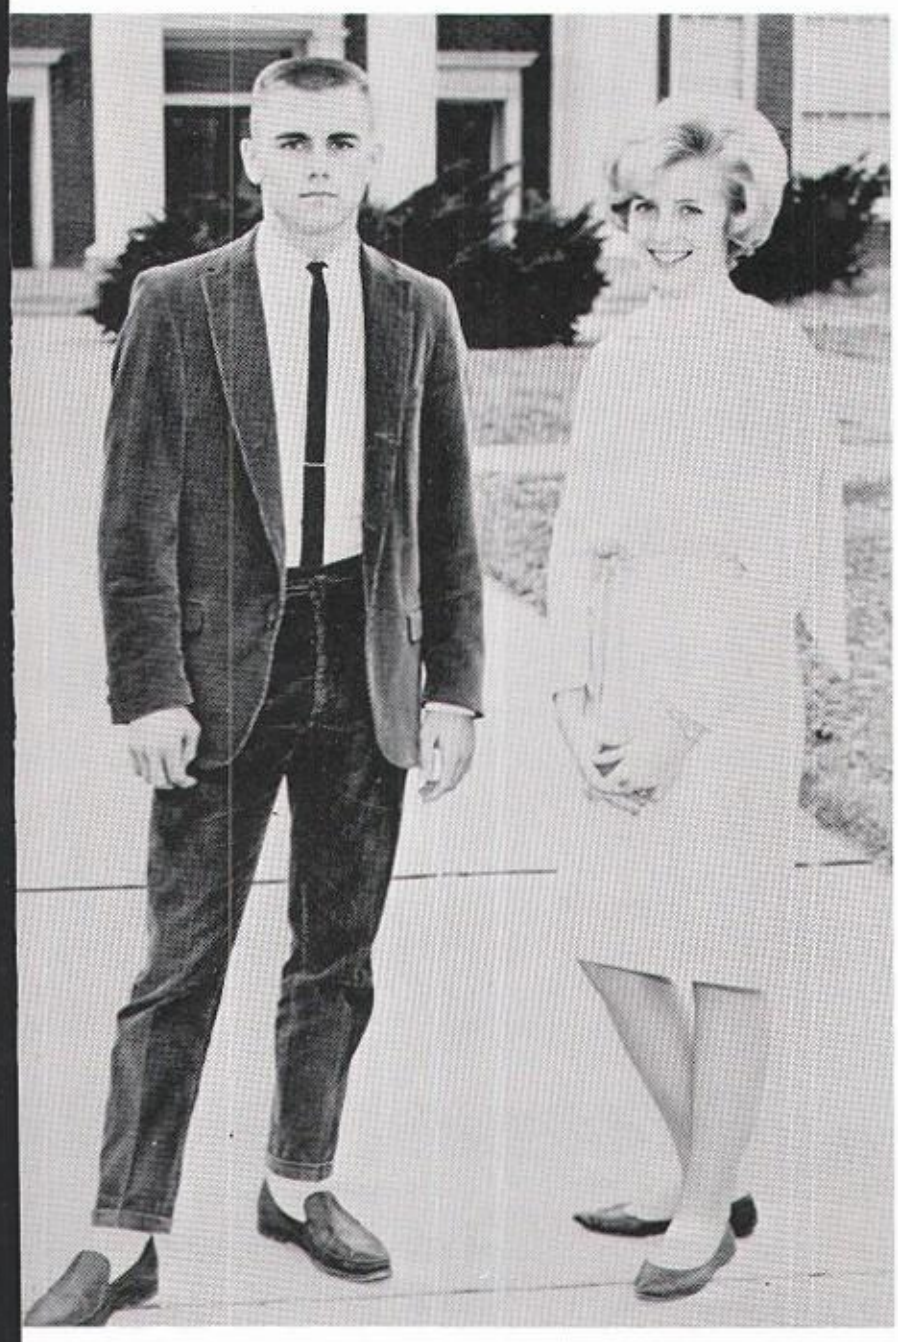


FRIENDLIEST—Linda Smith and Pete Bailey seem to have departed from their usually friendly mood.

MOST STUDIOUS—Jean Rosen and Tom McCabe pause for a moment in the midst of their studies.



BEST LOOKING—Pretty Joan Cockerille and handsome Mark Simmons are caught for the yearbook photographs.



BEST ALL AROUND—Carol Bury and Rick Dowden show heir winning charm.

MOST TALENTED—Carolyn Ramsey and J. C. Barnes practice on their musical instruments.

1963 Homecoming initiates several traditions

The Homecoming Court, Jo Raflo, Barbara Thompson, Queen Carol Bury, Jo Ann Atwell, Patsy Tinsman, Betty True Greene, Judy Steadman, Jane Poland, Cheryl King, and Evelyn Cook, add a little beauty to the front of the school.

Sparks flew and students cheered as the effigy of a Fauquier player perished in the flames. The scene—the annual pre-Homecoming pep rally. The next day it was perfect weather as the royal court was transported to its place of honor in shiny new convertibles. The eleven princesses were very tense during the first half of the game, because, for the first time, the name of the one chosen queen by team was kept secret. Finally the time came, and co-captain Rick Dowden proudly crowned Carol Bury Queen of the 1963 Homecoming. Although the Fauquier Falcons won the game, LCHS won too, by stimulating school spirit and enriching school tradition.

Queen Carol smiles regally on her day of triumph.

Co-captain Steve Williams steps back after presenting Carol a dozen red roses on behalf of the Pep Squad. Other Co-captains Dennis Britton, Rick Dowden, and Bill Keen look on with pleasure.

Princesses Evelyn Cook and Joan Cockerille follow Queen Carol off the field after the homecoming ceremony.

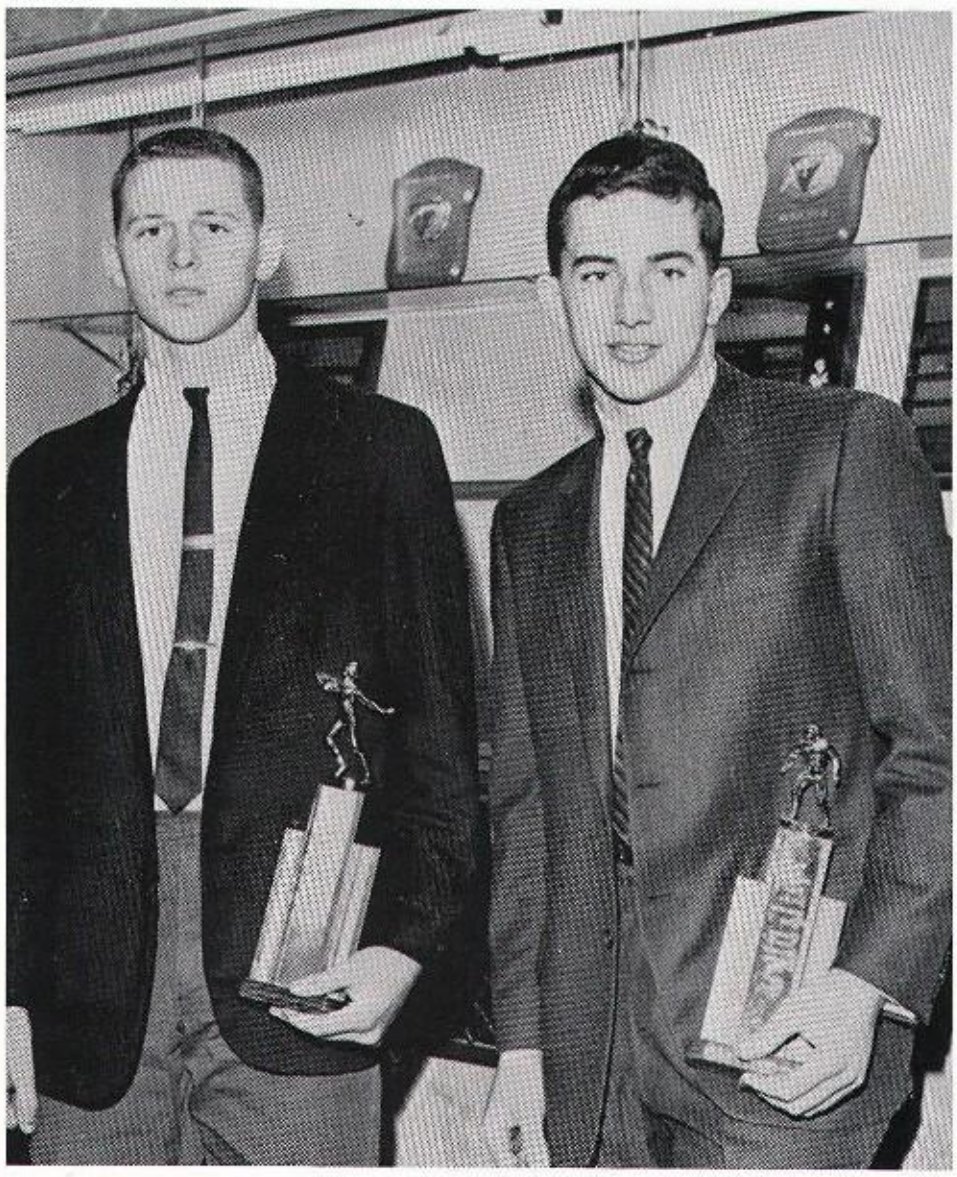
Miscellaneous



Steve Williams, best back of the year, and T. Jay Howard, best lineman of the year, proudly display their trophies in front of the trophy case.

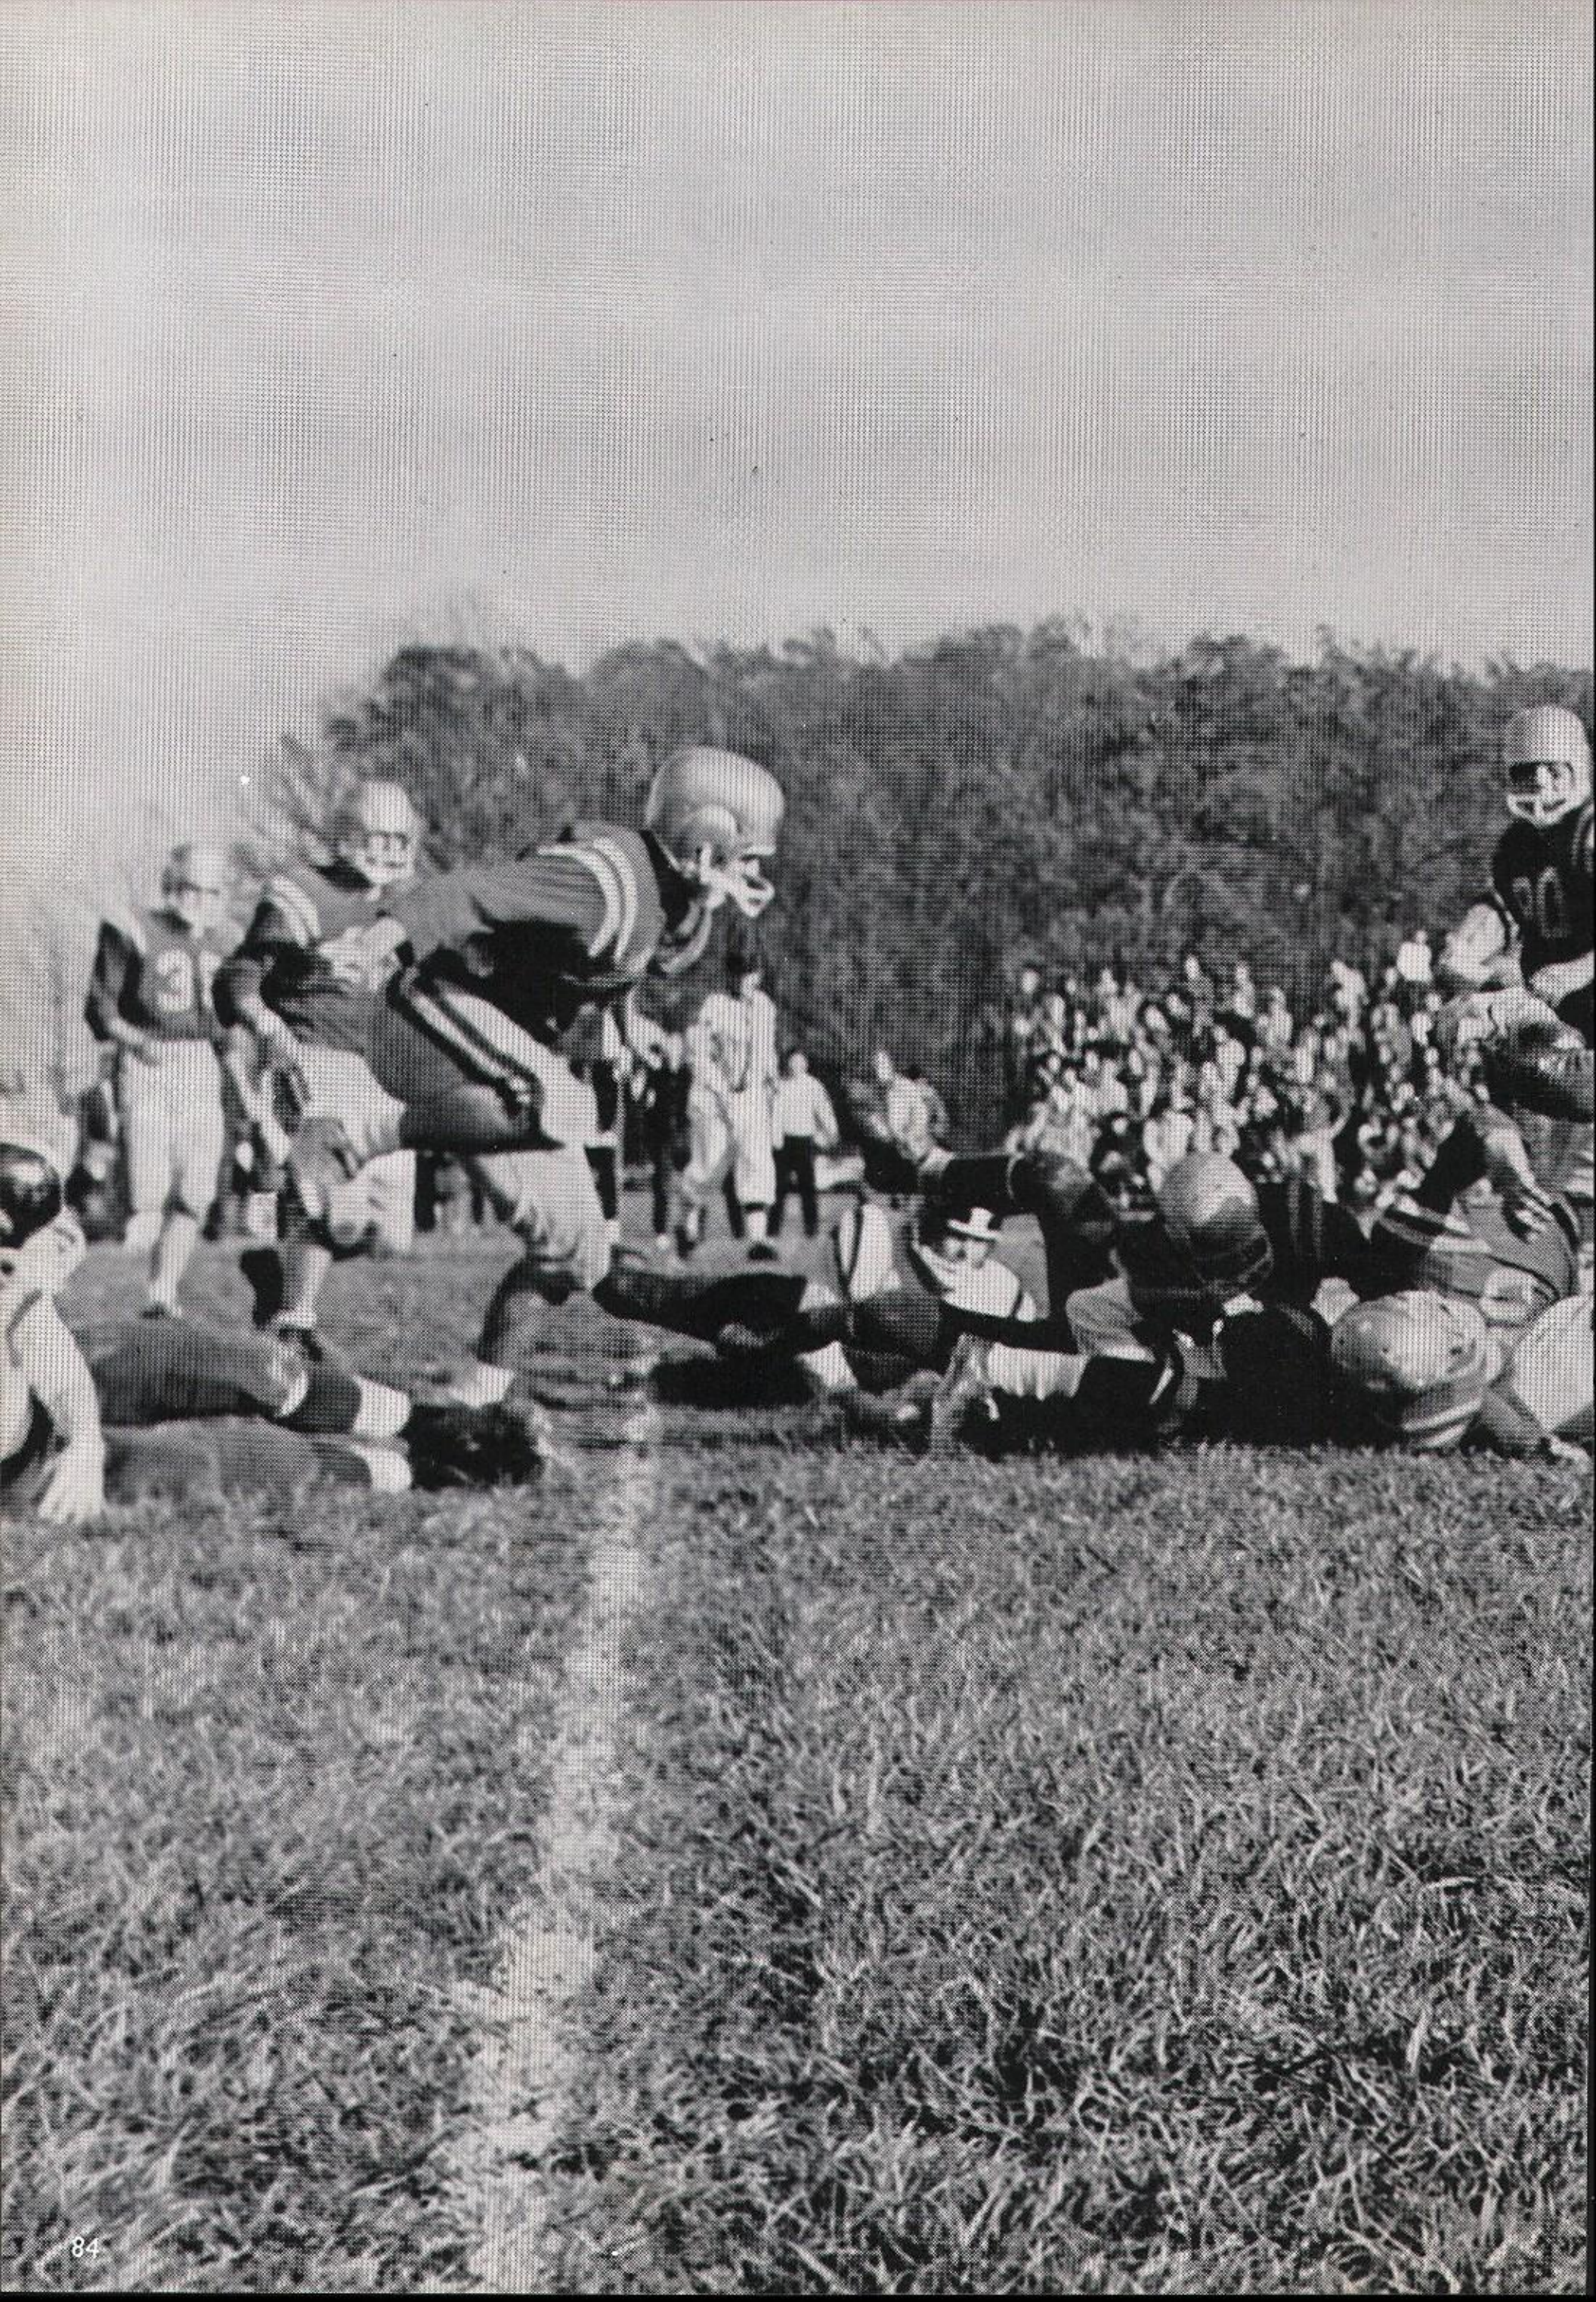
Girls' State delegate Mary Flournoy laughs heartily as she recalls the funnier aspects of the convention.

He doesn't really look like that, does he? wonders Mike Bailey as he looks at the Homecoming effigy.



SPORTS

Success is a goal strived for by all, but achieved by few. We all must set our goal in life and then dedicate all our energies to the fulfilment of our individual ambitions. On the long road to success, many setbacks are encountered, but true champions rebound from defeat with a greater will to win. This is the spirit installed in all of us by our coaches, and it is our duty to capitalize upon our advantages.

"Experience shows that success is due less to ability than to zeal. The winner is he who gives himself to his work, body and soul."

Varsity Squad Sparks Enthusiasm

Row I: Sue Damewood, Jane Poland, captain; Sally Kaufman, co-captain; Ruthie Brock. Row II: Carolyn Goode, Sherry Ritchie.

"We're gonna go!" yells sparkling Sherry Ritchie with Sally Kaufman not far behind.

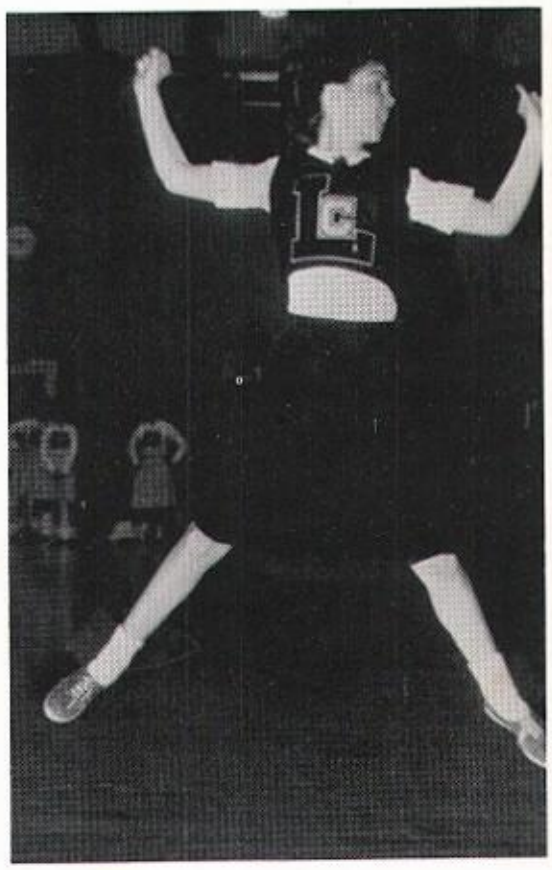
The varsity cheerleading squad, never failing to cheer whole heartedly in both defeat and victory, were an important part of the sports picture at Loudoun. Under the leadership of Mrs. Stevens, the squad introduced many new sparkling, peppy cheers. Without these 6 girls and their never ending spirit, an important part of every game would have been gone.

"I'm really doing the right motions," says Sue Damewood, while Jane Poland and Sally Kaufman try to follow her.

"I just know we'll win," cries co-captain Sally Kaufman.

"All for Loudoun stand up and holler," Sue Damewood, Jane Poland, and Sally Kaufman cheer enthusiastically at time out.

"Go, Raiders, Go!" peppy Carolyn Goode shouts determinedly.



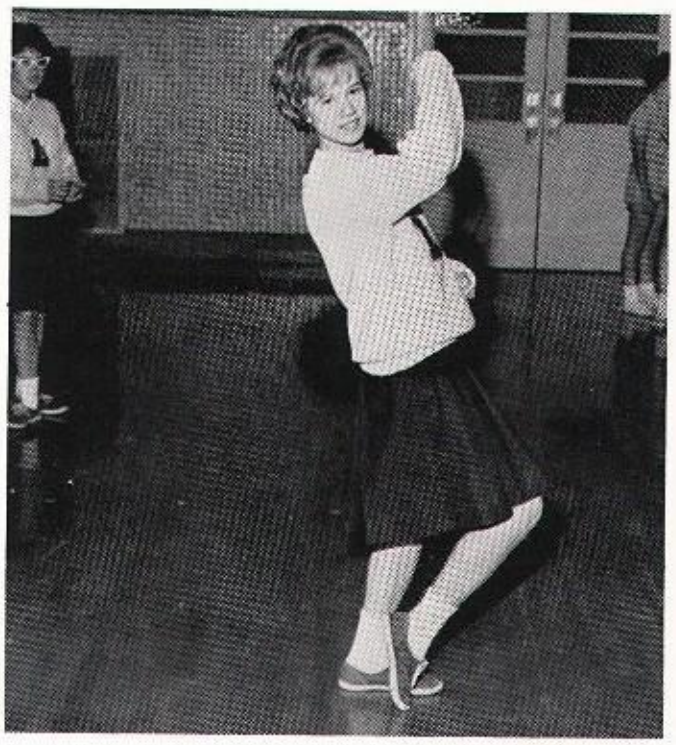
"Eek! A Viking!" screams Sue Damewood, jumping high during a varsity yell.

J.V. Cheerleaders Inspire Lancers to Victory

ROW I: Jo Raflo, Margaret Muse. Row II: Betty Ryan, Betty True Green, Michele Moeser.

Six energetic underclass girls did much to cause enthusiasm for the Junior Varsity teams this year. These, of course, were our Junior Varsity cheerleaders. They had as their sponsor Miss Nicholson.

Long practice sessions twice a week enabled them to become proficient at a great variety of cheers. This experience will be quite valuable to these girls if they seek varsity positions next year.



J.V. Cheerleader Betty Ryan works out the motions to a new cheer.

Our J.V. Cheerleaders cheer the Lancers on to another victory.

"Al right, girls, let's cheer," muses Margaret Jane Muse.

G.A.A. Teams Vie for Top Positions

STEVE WILLIAMS
Class of '64
Captain

The worth of a season is usually determined by the number of wins and the number of losses. But somehow this is not enough. Team spirit, physical handicap, and all out team effort must be considered to present a true evaluation of the '63 Raiders.

Mr. John Vances' first year as head coach was indeed a trying one. A streak of bad luck, uninterrupted even by a week of victory, plagued the team throughout the season.

Able to post only one victory and one tie in ten games, the Raiders finished the season with high hopes for next year.

Raider halfback Steve Williams is finally tackled after picking up seven yards against Garfield.

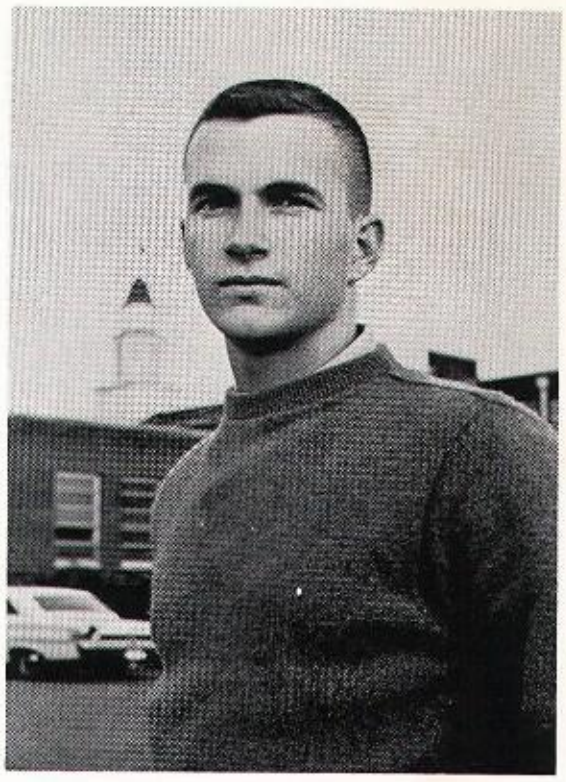
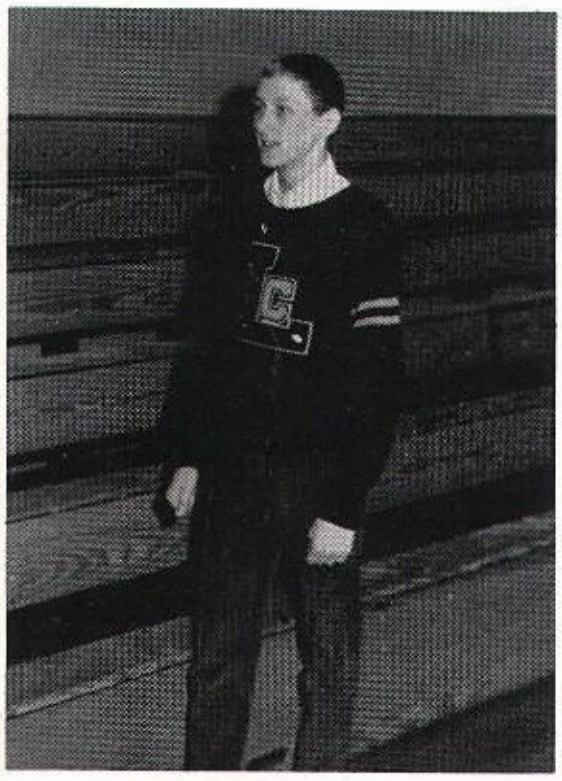
Richard Cornwell contemplates running over a clumsy official, as he heads for the side line with two Falcons in hot pursuit.

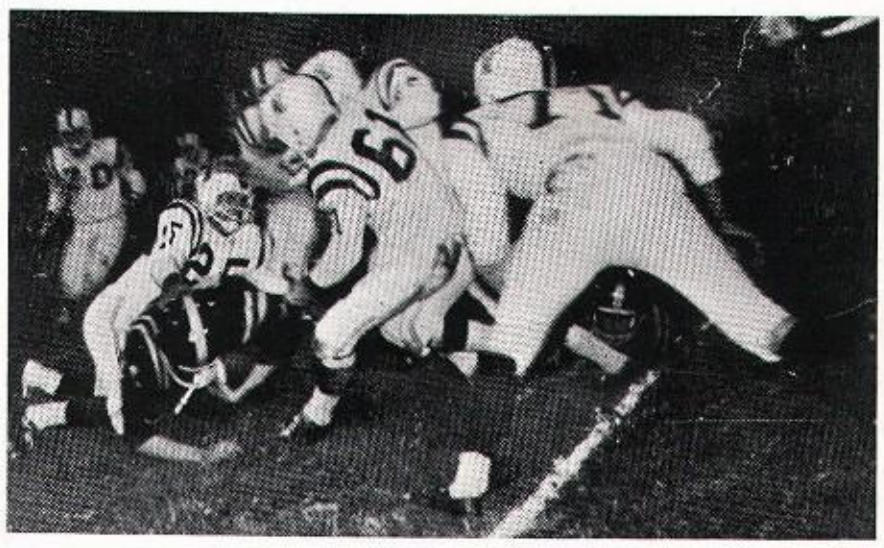


Senior Mark Simmons proved valuable as varsity manager.



Dan Chamblin, better known as Flea to his numerous friends, rolled up the elastic bandages for the last time this season after four years as varsity manager.

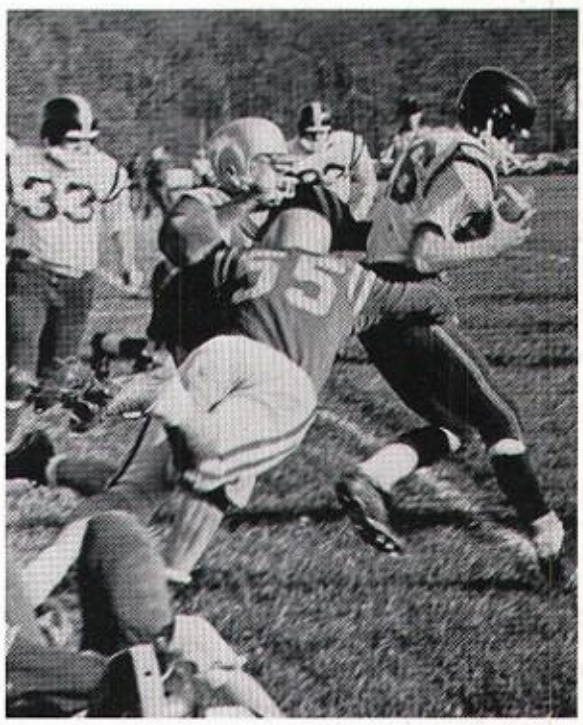
Raider halfback Ricky Dowden bursts through a hole in the Falcon line despite the attempts of Fauquier linemen Bob James and Carl Simpson.



Vikings Tommy Chamblin and Tommy Rust gang up on Raider back Carroll Amos.

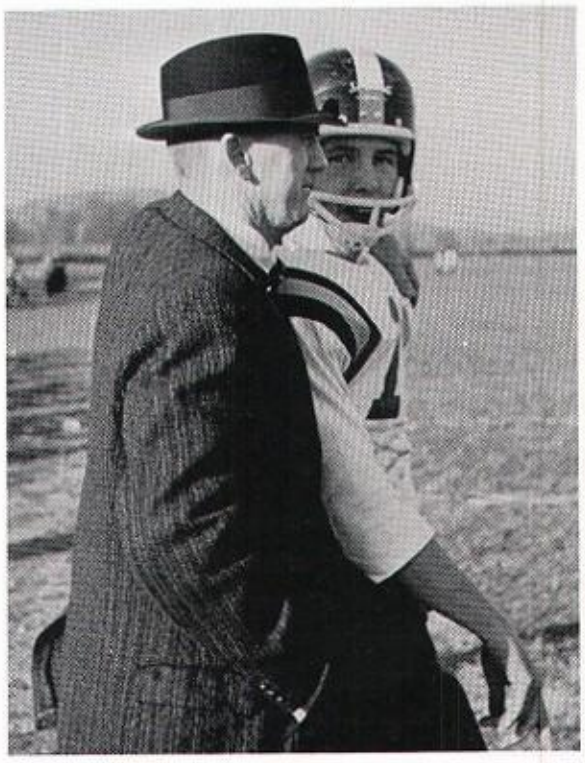
"Snake eyes! You lose again, Mr. Vance," calls Carroll Amos, as Mr. Ship and the rest of the team look on expectantly.

J. C. Barnes, Carroll Amos and Jeff Mann lead the Raiders onto the field.



Quarterback Carroll Amos is stopped abruptly by Fauquier linebacker Jimmy Eicher.

Indian linemen Tim Thomas and Gary Clinedinst attempt to block a Terry Gill punt.



"Yes Sir, I agree a touchdown is in order," says quarterback Hammerly to Coach Vance.

Coach Kenny Vance holds the rapt attention of the JayVee co-captains Danny Furr, Richard Peeler, Tommy Cook, and Larry Fields.

Lancers Second in District

The Lancers, under their new head coach Mr. Kenny Vance, earned a highly respectable 4-4-1 record and finished with a number two rating in district competition. Mr. Fritz Scholz completed another successful season as assistant coach and turned out another big enthusiastic line.

The '63 JayVees boasted wins over George Mason, Loudoun Valley, James Wood, and Fauquier. The Lancers showed great promise for varsity competition.

Lancer back John Baden goes around right end and picks up yardage against Clarke County.

Brisk blocking is part of the line play as a Lancer back goes for short yardage over center.

Raiders Topple Vikings 42-41

It's hard to describe the disappointment and frustration experienced by a team which faced defeat week after week throughout a long basketball season. But it is in no means easy for a team to bounce back smiling in readiness for another contest.

The '64 Raiders fall grudgingly into this category. By being able to post only one victory the luckless Raiders found themselves holding sole possession of last place in league competition. The one win, however, was a particularly gratifying one being the 42-41 triumph over the Valley Vikings.

The greatest quality of the Raiders can be best pointed out in the Tournament game against James Wood. At the end of the first quarter the Raiders had been outscored by the stifling margin of 31-4. It would have been quite easy for the Raiders to have thrown in the towel at this time, but our Raiders just aren't like that. The spirited group came roaring back to bring the score to 39-32 at half time.

A worthless season? We Raider fans think not.

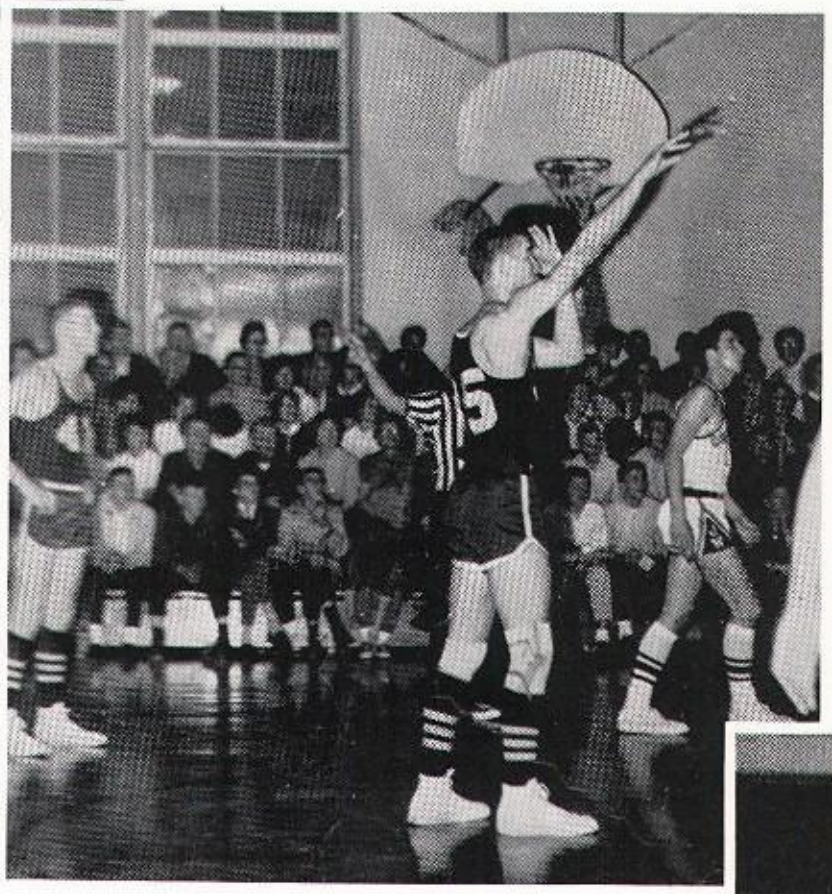
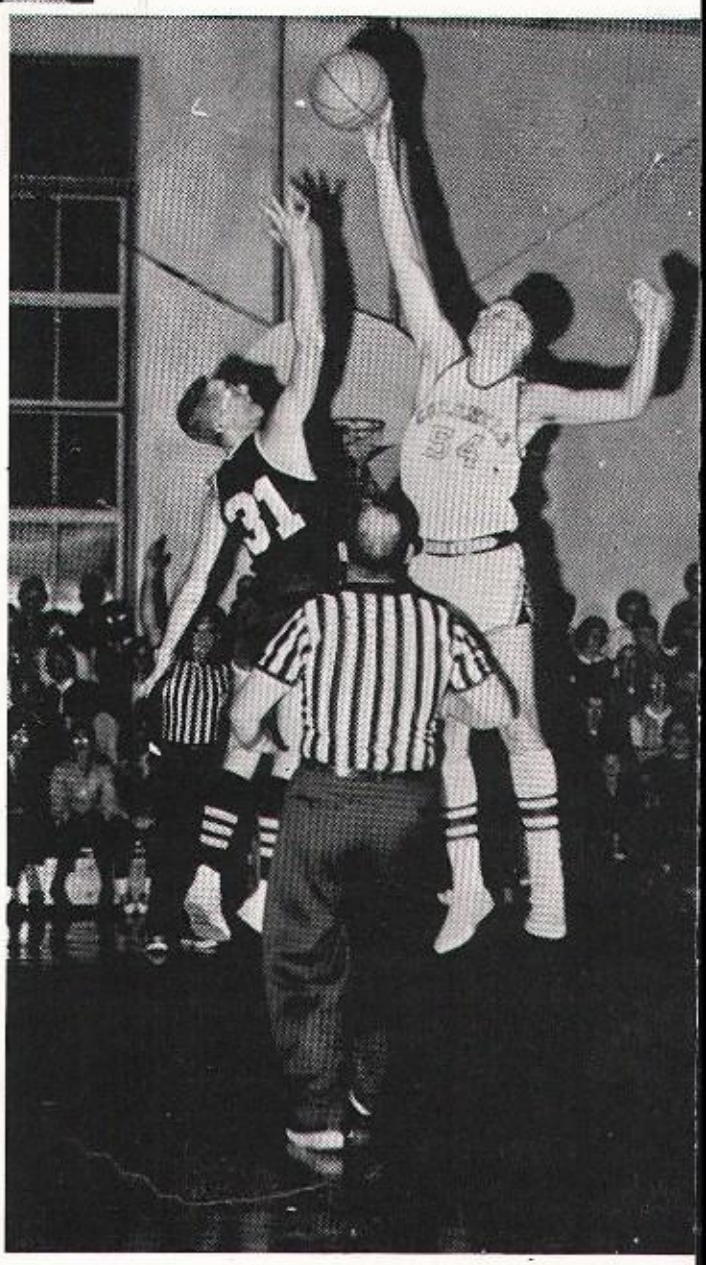
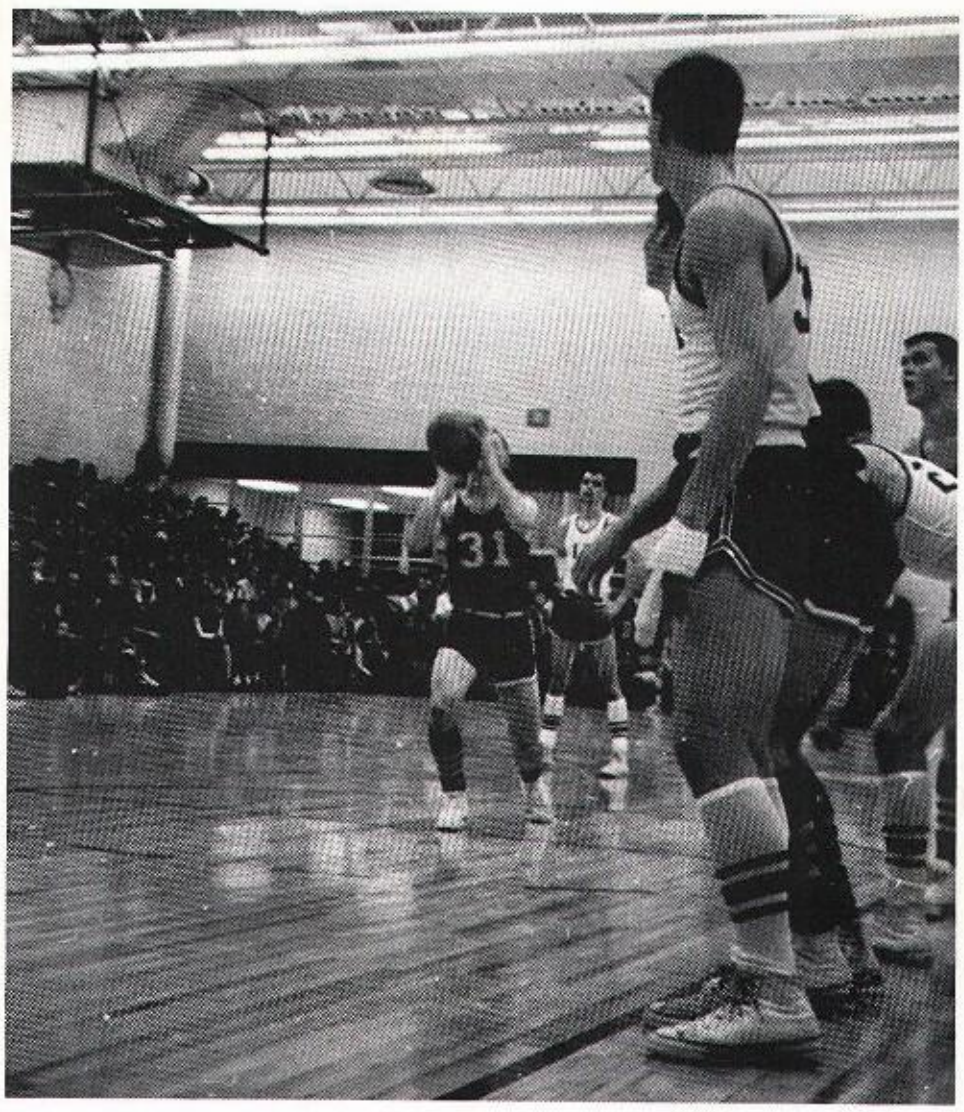
Bobby Call battles a Nokesville Tiger for possession of the ball under the Raiders' basket.

"Oh, no, I just can't look," thinks Dennis Britton as he shoots a decisive foul shot.

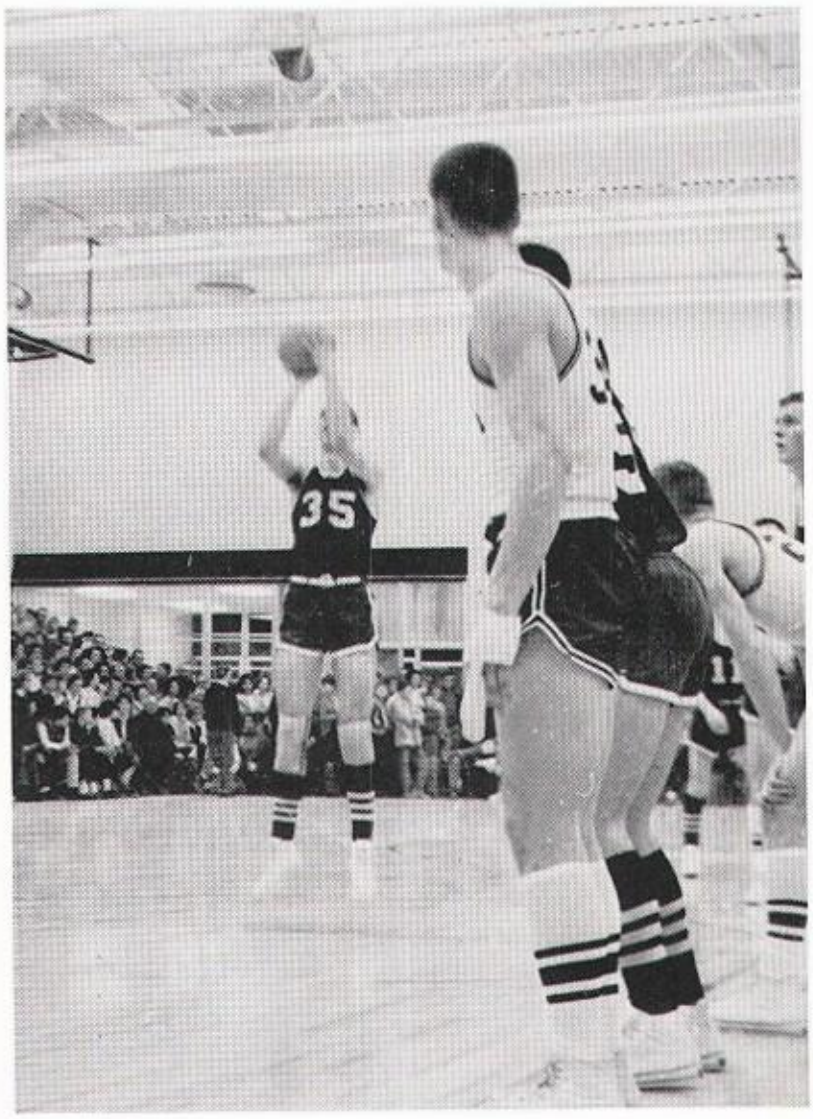




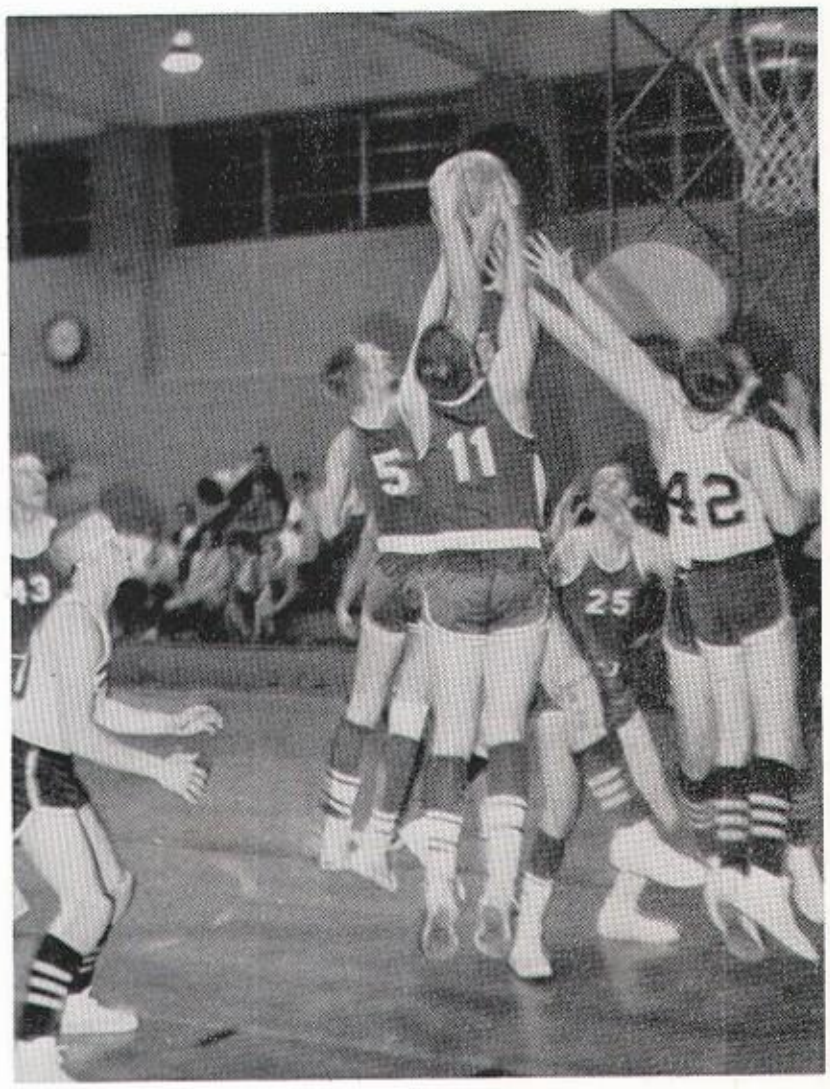


Kelly Frye takes careful aim for the all-important foul shot against Valley.

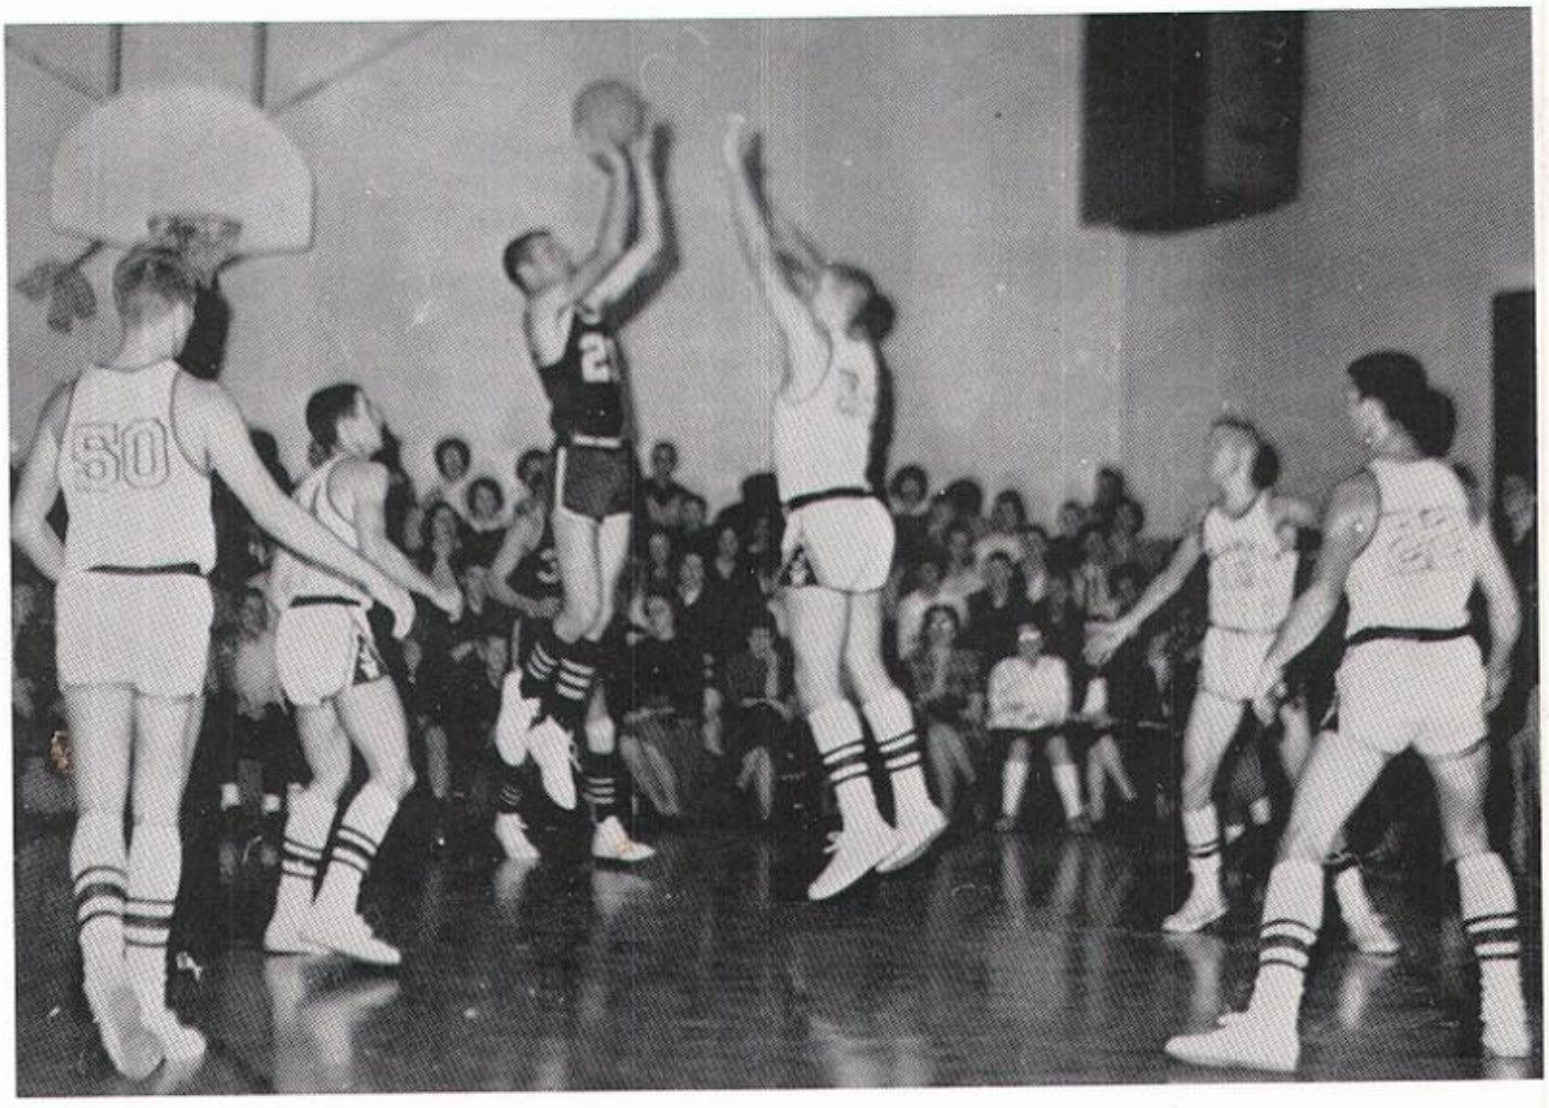
"That's not fair, he's wearing US Keds," complains Kelly Frye as Butch Rinker towers over him.



Viking Sonny Hoetzel awaits a rebound which will never come as Dennis Britton sinks another foul shot.



Bobby Hummer battles four George Mason Mustangs for a valuable rebound.



Buddy Pitts shoots over the out-stretched hands of Butch Rinker for two points.

Coach John Vance's Lancer quint turned in an admirable performance this year. The Jayvee squad posted five victories in the year, while losing three others only by one point. Having gained both experience and poise from their early season losses the boys were able to play smooth co-ordinated ball through the last half of the season. Win or lose the Lancers were able to display fine sportsmanship in representing their school well.

Ronnie Jones jumps high against Jimmy Welsh of Loudoun Valley.

Well, it's back to work, thinks Sonny Pearson, as the Raiders take the field again.

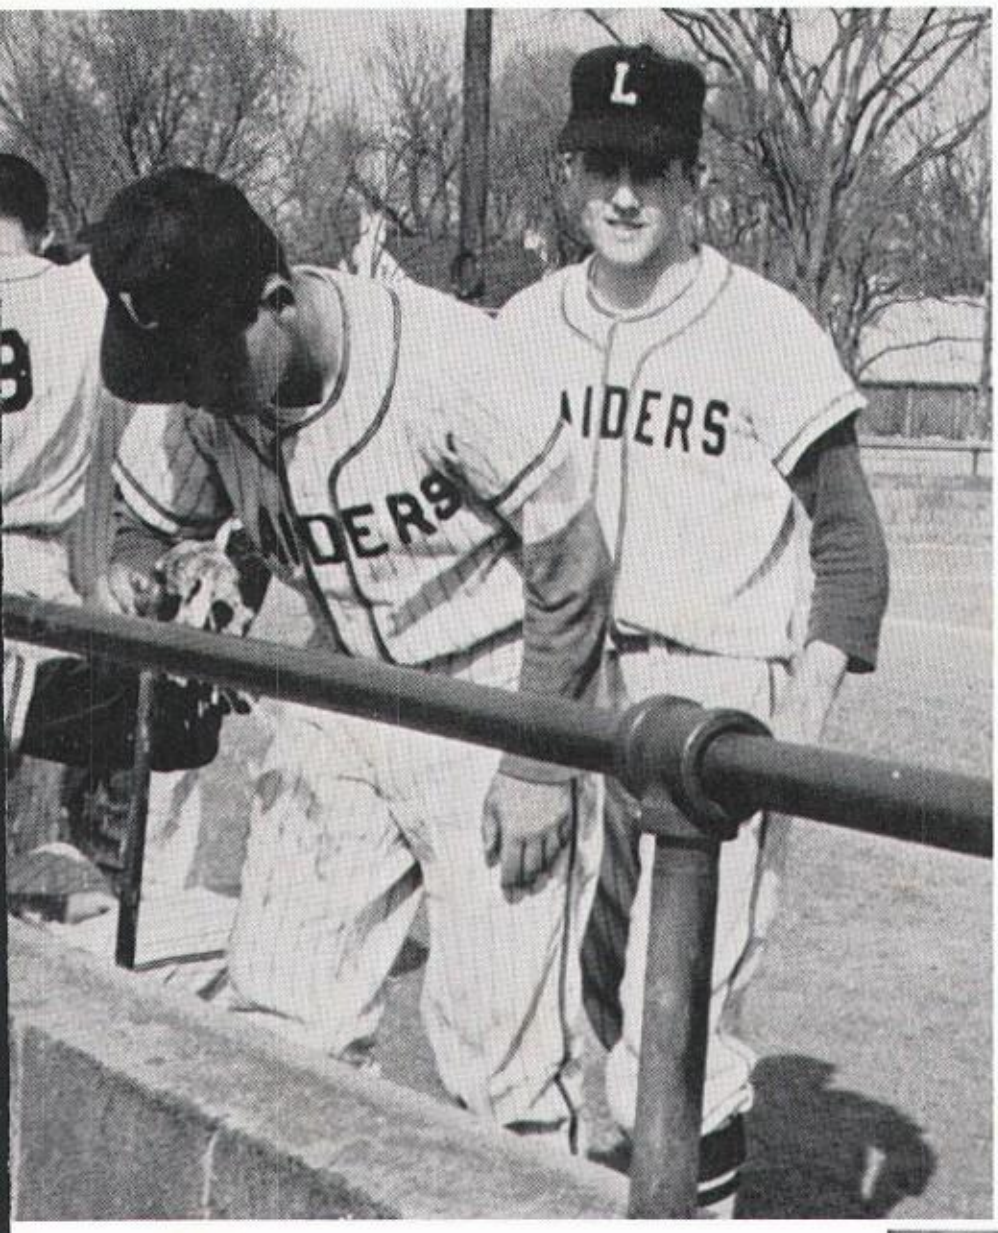
During the spring of '63, twenty-five eager boys worked every day to be ready for their first baseball game. This intense practice paid off with an 11-6 victory over Clarke County. The Raiders also won games over Herndon, G. C. Marshall, and Loudoun Valley.

The Raider pitching staff was strengthened by veteran Benny Mullins, who boasted a 4 and 1 record this season.

Many underclassmen obtained positions on the starting nine. Sophomore catcher Sonny Pearson led the team with a batting average of 361.

The climax to the Raiders' successful season was topping Loudoun Valley in a thrilling ten inning game. As a result the '63 Raiders became county champions—a just reward for a fine team.

Raiders Defeat Valley in Overtime Thriller

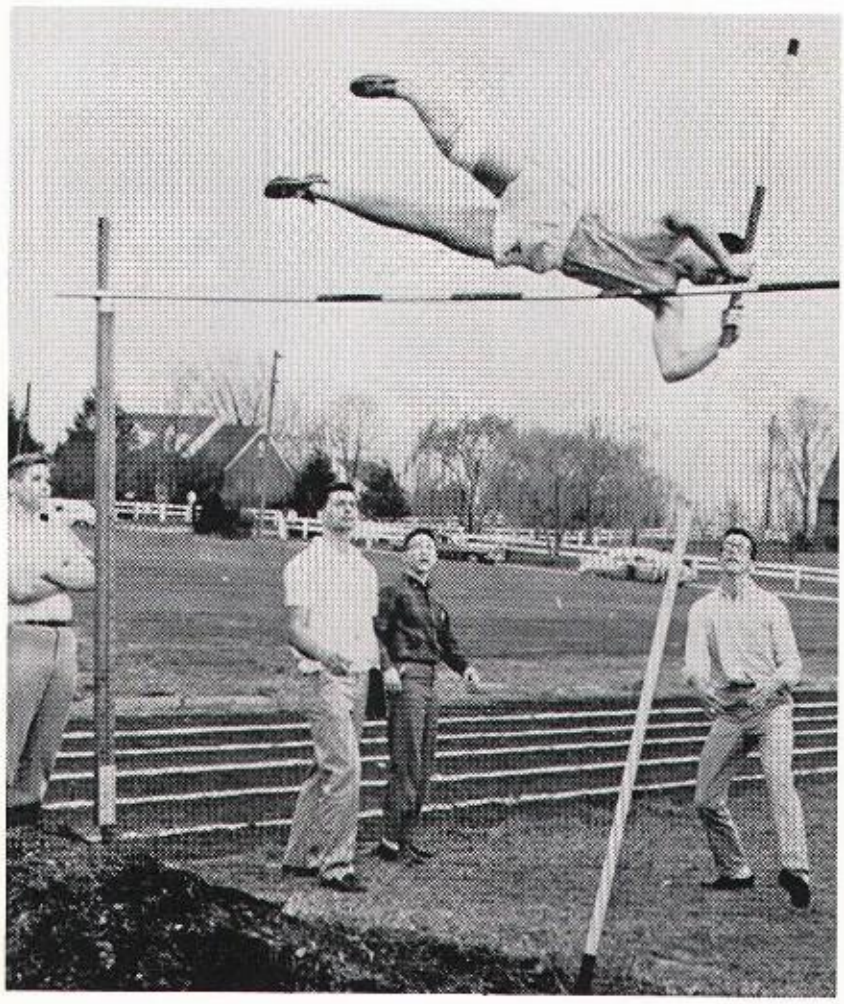


Time out for refreshment, C. B. McKimmey and Jim Poland assemble at the water hole.

Another Raider win is scored as Jerry Roberts brings in the good news.

Pitcher Benny Mullins aids in winning his own game by scoring a decisive run.

County Hosts '63 Track Meets



Chris Owens, Mr. Bolen, Claude Saffer, and Wayne Brookins wait expectantly as Thurston Shrader attempts to clear seven feet, five inches.

The Raiders played host to all five meets preceding the district competition at James Wood. Our trackmen proved successful in two of the meets, downing Clarke County and Warrenton. The Loudoun Invitational, the highlight of the season, was won by Handley, followed by Herndon, George Mason, Loudoun Valley, Loudoun County, and Warrenton. At the district track meet, Dennis Britton, who won the 440 yard dash, and Billy Keen, who took second place in the shot-put, later went on to the State track competition at Virginia Military Institute. Other outstanding cindermen were: Rick Dowden, miler; Roger Ray, 180 yard low hurdler; and Jimmy Carder, who ran the 440 yard dash.

Dennis Britton surges ahead of teammate Jimmy Carder and Valley cindermen David Chamberlain and Sonny Hoetzel.

Miler Rick Dowden completes a warm-up sprint.

Loudoun County Track Co-captains.

Jimmy Carder puts forth a final burst of speed to win the race.

Billy Keen exhibits his championship form in the shot-put event.

Bill Kelly clears the bar at five feet, two inches.

CLASSES

When the thetamen first arrive in County's halls, almost lost in the confusion and bustle, they quickly meet old friends and make new ones. Soon the students unite, elect officers, and form a class under the guidance of their faculty sponsors. Progressing through the years, they learn, study, and have fun together; characters are molded, and friendships grow and are tempered by maturity and experience. Abilities are discovered, skills are developed While anticipating the future, seniors face•with sorrow the parting in graduation. Yet even many years afterwards, they are still held to their class by the fast, fond bonds of experience and friendship.

"Educational relations make the strongest ties."

Bob Thompson heads class for third year

Senior Class officers: Jean Rosen, secretary, Shirley Church, treasurer, Robert Thompson, president, and Fred Dick, vice-president and their sponsors Mrs. McCann, Mrs. Hough, and Mr. Scoltz.

"I bet I can define Newton's Law of Motion," exclaims T. Jay Howard to a disbelieving Mr. Scholtz.

The tenth graduating class of LCHS leaves its mark on the school in an unprecedented manner—donating a gift to the school.

After four years of climbing the ladder, the members of the class of '64 have finally reached the top. Highlights of this most important year include senior pictures, senior class rings, and, of course the traditional graduation activities.

Bob Thompson, class president for three consecutive years, again led the class with the aid of his fellow officers.

With mixed emotions, the Class of '64 bids farewell to their Alma Mater.

Jane Poland heads junior class

The junior class of one-hundred fifty-seven is led by Jane Poland, with Joe Alexander, Vice-president; Barbara Thompson, Secretary; and Mark Crowley, Treasurer. Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Gross, and Mr. Juhle sponsor the class.

SCAT and STEP tests were taken by all juniors, and many class members also took Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests in October as practice for College Boards. Many juniors are already thinking about colleges and careers.

Alyce Phillips leads Sophomore Class

Miss Vermillon counsels sophomore class officers. They are Lynn Hammes, Secretary; Sarah Flint, Vice-President; Alyce Phillips, President; Gail Spickard, Treasurer.

"You're right! It is Radio Moscow!" exclaims senior Wendy Moeser to Janice Hedrick

"Half-way through High School!" exclaim members of the Sophomore Class: half-way through their preparation to meet the challenges of the world; half-way, perhaps, through their preparation to obtain a college education. The sophomore class is capably led this year by their sponsor, Miss Josephine Vermillion, and their officers: Alyce Phillips, Sarah Flint, Lynn Hammes, and Gail Spikard. The sophomores are continually accepting many more responsibilities, such as in school spirit and competitive activities, as maturing young students.

John Dickens leads class for second year

Ninth grade officers, John Dickens, Donna Comstock, Larry Belote, and Ann Southers, confer with their sponsor, Mrs. Kephart.

The ninth grade class now had the experience of a whole year at L.C.H.S. behind them. They already show signs of becoming the leaders of tomorrow by enthusiastically working on many SCA committees and with many clubs. With the sponsorship of Mrs. Kephart and under the leadership of their class officers, John Dickens, Donna Comstock, Ann Southers, and Larry Belote, they carried out well the tasks assigned the Freshman class.

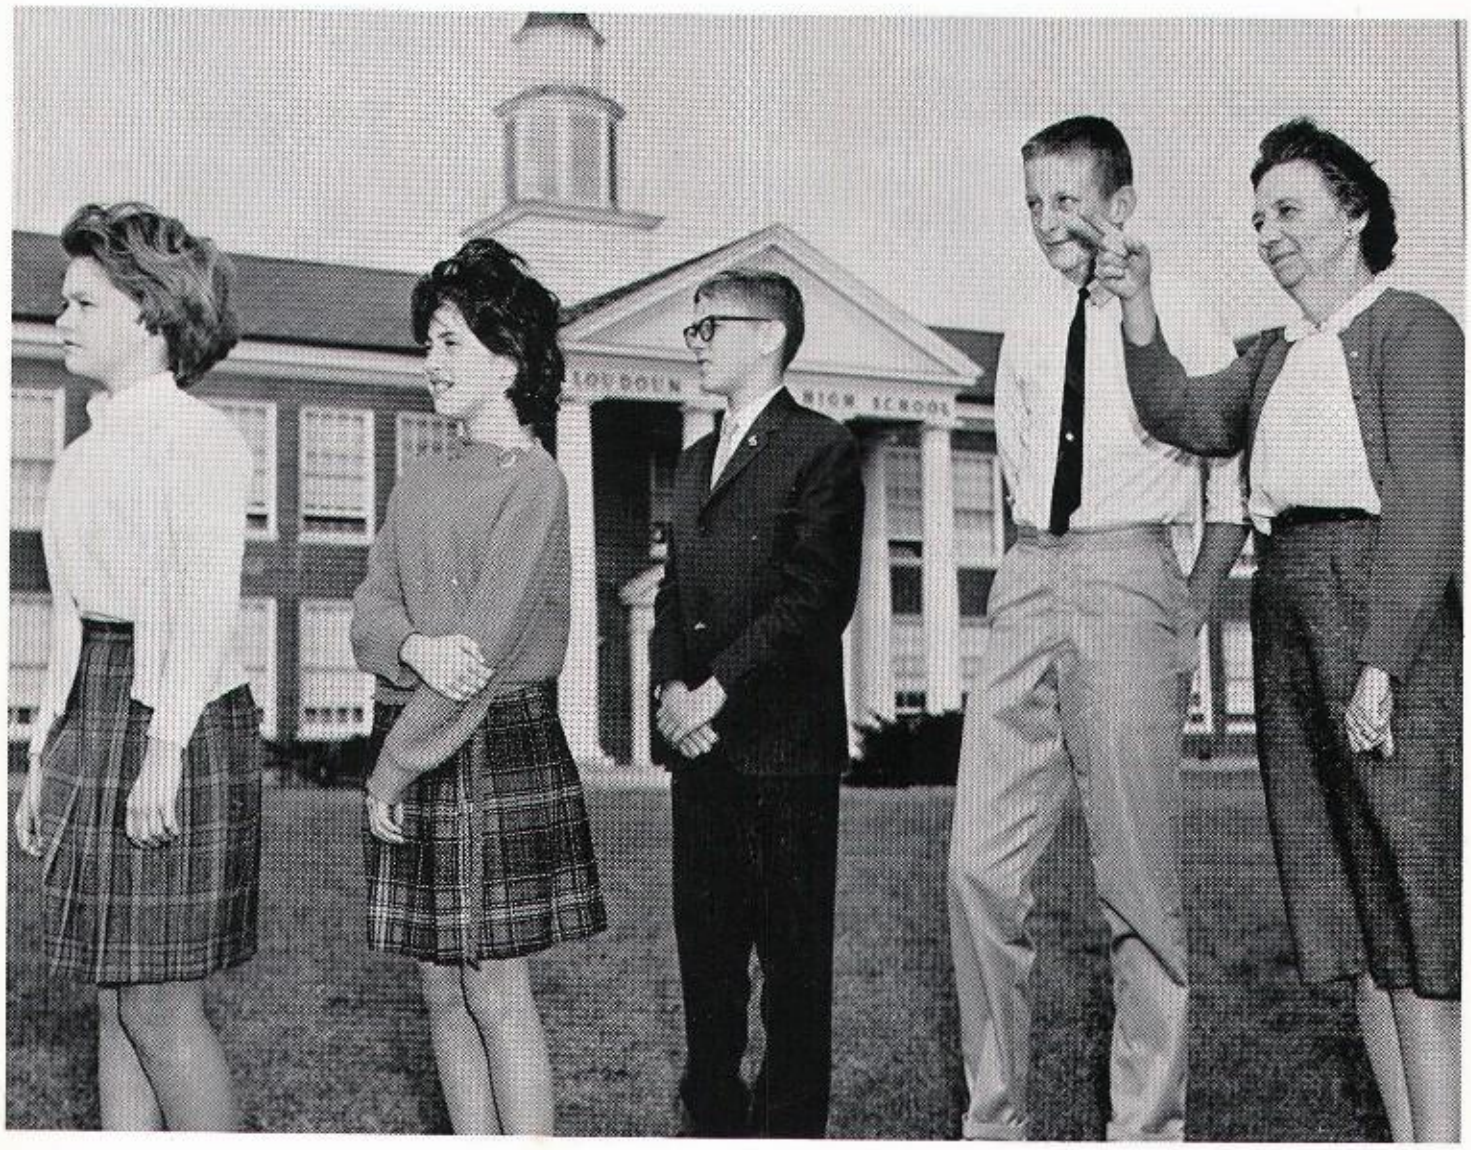
Ronnie Gheen leads thetamen



Eighth grade officers: Secretary, Sandra Ritchie; Treasurer, Cheryl Young; Vice-President, Ricky Donaldson, and President Ronnie Gheen and their sponsor Mrs. Lillian Bridges.

"Oh dear! Isn't this room 26? I must be lost!" Such exclamations are frequently heard in classrooms for the first few weeks of school. Very often, during these first trying days, several poor, lost thetamen may be found wandering about the halls. The greatest problem of the members of the eighth grade class is to get well acquainted with LCHS as quickly as possible. Guided by their sponsor, Mrs. Bridges, they adjusted very quickly to high school life and are settled down to the serious business of an education.

ADVERTISING

Just as we like to promote our school, businessmen like to promote their businesses. The world today is full of this promotion Every possible opportunity is used for advertising. Advertising is now lively, imaginative, in addition to getting the message across to the people. By advertising in the following pages, Loudoun businesses have helped us to make the '64 Lord Loudoun possible.

The voice with a smile

Today, as always, the C&P voice with a smile is as close as "Operator" on your dial. Intelligently, cheerfully, the "Operator" handles phone calls to faraway places and intricate day-to-day problems of telephone users. Her job is interesting, important, demanding and rewarding. She's an indispensable member of our C&P communications service team.

O HAIL THY NAME, LOUDOUN HIGH,
OUR TREASURED BLUE AND GOLD.
WE PRAISE THY GRACE AND DIGNITY,
THY GLORIES TO BEHOLD.

WE'LL EVERMORE THY NAME ADORE,
AND HONORS TO THEE BRING.
AND NOW TO LOUDOUN HIGH SCHOOL
THY PRAISES WE WILL SING.

OH LOUDOUN HIGH, SCHOOL ADORED,
OUR ALMA MATER DEAR,
FOND MEMORIES OF THEE WE'LL HOLD,
OUR HEARTS AND MINDS TO CHEER.
